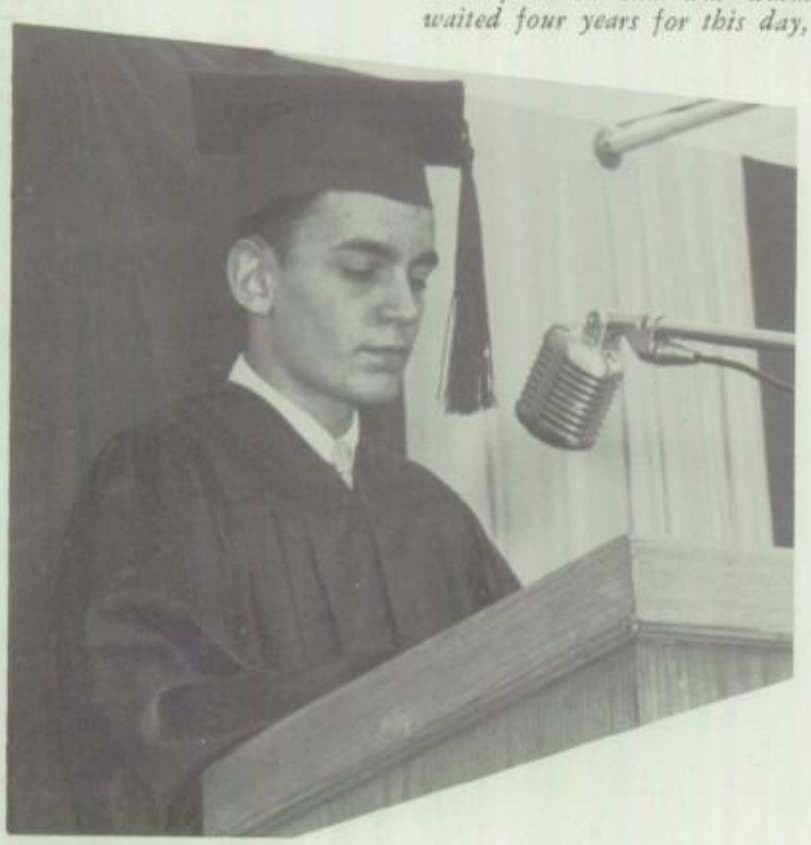
HOLY CROSS GRADUATES

The photographer managed to capture an imposing picture of the graduates and their guests seated inside the green covered fences bordering the athletic field, as the graduation ceremony progressed.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry Hald, Superintendent of School of the Brooklyn Diocese was the main speaker at the graduation exercises.

James Peppe prepares to receive his diploma from the hands of Brother Ephrem O'Dwyer, C.S.C., Provincial of the Eastern Province of the Brothers of Holy Cross.

The afternoon sun was warm, but for these parents who had waited four years for this day, it was easily and happily endured.



The Valedictory address was delivered by Francis Egan, the number one scholar of the Class of '59.

Class President, Andrew Sullivan, delivered the address of welcome to the four thousand guests present.

Arranged in twenty neat green rows, the four hundred and sixty graduates of the first class to enter Holy Cross High School, happily sweltered beneath a hot June sun as they awaited their turns to be among the first to receive diplomas from Holy Cross.

From their tennis court vantage point they looked up at a bright green and gold dias at the group of diocesan, school and community dignitaries who had come to wish them and their four thousand guests happiness and prosperity in the future.

The beauty of the ceremony and this brilliant summer afternoon was a wonderful event to store in their memories as a climax to four great years as pioneers at Holy Cross.

HIGH SCHOOL

This year concludes Brother John's fifth busy year as Principal of Holy Cross. Brother has the habit of confusing students by popping up in places where they least expect to encounter him—shoveling snow on a cold winter morning, "sitting in" for an absent teacher, lining up students for flu shots or in numerous other places where the necessity of the moment demands his smiling presence.

THE MIND OF MAN
PLUS REVELATION

Brother Matthew Gara, C.S.C., Head of the Religion Department, goes over the Morning Religious Bulletin with announcer Tom Oddo to make certain that Tom has all his pronunciations correct. This shot was taken one minute before Tom's familiar voice ranged throughout the school . . . "The Religious Bulletin for Wednesday, January 20th . . ."

In direct response to the admonition of Christ, "Going therefore, teach ye all nations . . ." the Religion Department of Holy Cross proposes as its primary aim the perpetuation of the teachings of Holy Mother Church.

This department, under the direction of Brother Matthew Gara, C.S.C., strives to care for the spiritual needs of the adolescent by providing him with sound religious instruction, and offering him constant opportunity for spiritual growth through daily visits to the Blessed Sacrament in the student chapel, opportunities for confession, development of the habit of the Morning Offering and Act of Contrition, and sound spiritual advice offered in the daily Religious Bulletin.

Besides these habit-forming opportunities, the student is encouraged to observe special practices of religious significance such as the October rosary, Father-Son communion breakfast, lenten sacrifice and the yearly retreat. Each student is required to make the annual school retreat, two days of silence, reflection and prayer, and special facilities are available to those who wish to make a weekend closed retreat at St. Joseph's Retreat House at Valatie, N. Y.

Besides the atmosphere of liturgical awareness provided by the large religious bulletin board on the main floor, all classrooms, stairwells and corridors have been amply provided with attractive and thought-provoking posters stressing moral obligations, devotion to Christ, the Blessed Virgin and the Saints, and the question of a possible religious vocation.

Participation in diocesan poster contents, mission collections, prayer crusades and the annual TABLET drive is encouraged. Holy Cross men have led the diocese in obtaining subscriptions to the TABLET. This year has seen the formation of an active and growing mission society, students whose time is generously given to works of a truly Christian character.

BROTHERS: ARTHUR, DONALD, GEOFFREY, JAMES MADIGAN, JAMES ROTH, JOHN JOSEPH, JOSEPH ZACCARDO, LAURIAN, LEO, JOHN CAPISTRAN, RICHARD, THOMAS, CHESTER, JOSEPH HARRIS.

Every student knows that the buzzer next to the confessional is a reminder that daily opportunities for confession are available.

School sacristan Brother William Redmond assists the student retreat master Father James, C.P. as he returns to the sacristy after saying Mass for the retreatants.

Certain things are capable of making school Principals smile. In Brother John's case, it's knowing that his students are again doing their share toward a successful drive for the TABLET. Accepting subscriptions brought forth this ample smile.

The Brothers' Chapel is open to the student body for daily visits. Here is a view of the altar in its Easter finery.

The habit of daily prayer, encouraged by Religion instructors and practiced at the beginning of each class period, has become ingrained in the character of every loyal Holy Cross Knight. At special times, when extra strength and protection are needed, he instinctively turns to the altar in search of that strength as this picture of the football team testifies. They have quietly padded, in their stocking feet, to the fourth floor Chapel for their customary pre-game prayer prior to the Thanksgiving game with Flushing—which they, the underdogs, won.

Each Fall finds the fathers and sons turning out by the hundreds for the annual Father-Son Communion Breakfast. Previous to the breakfast, held in the gymnasium, fathers and sons attend Mass and receive Communion in the Auditorium Chapel.

TIME FROM STUDIES FOR THE SILENT REFLECTION OF SCHOOL RETREATS

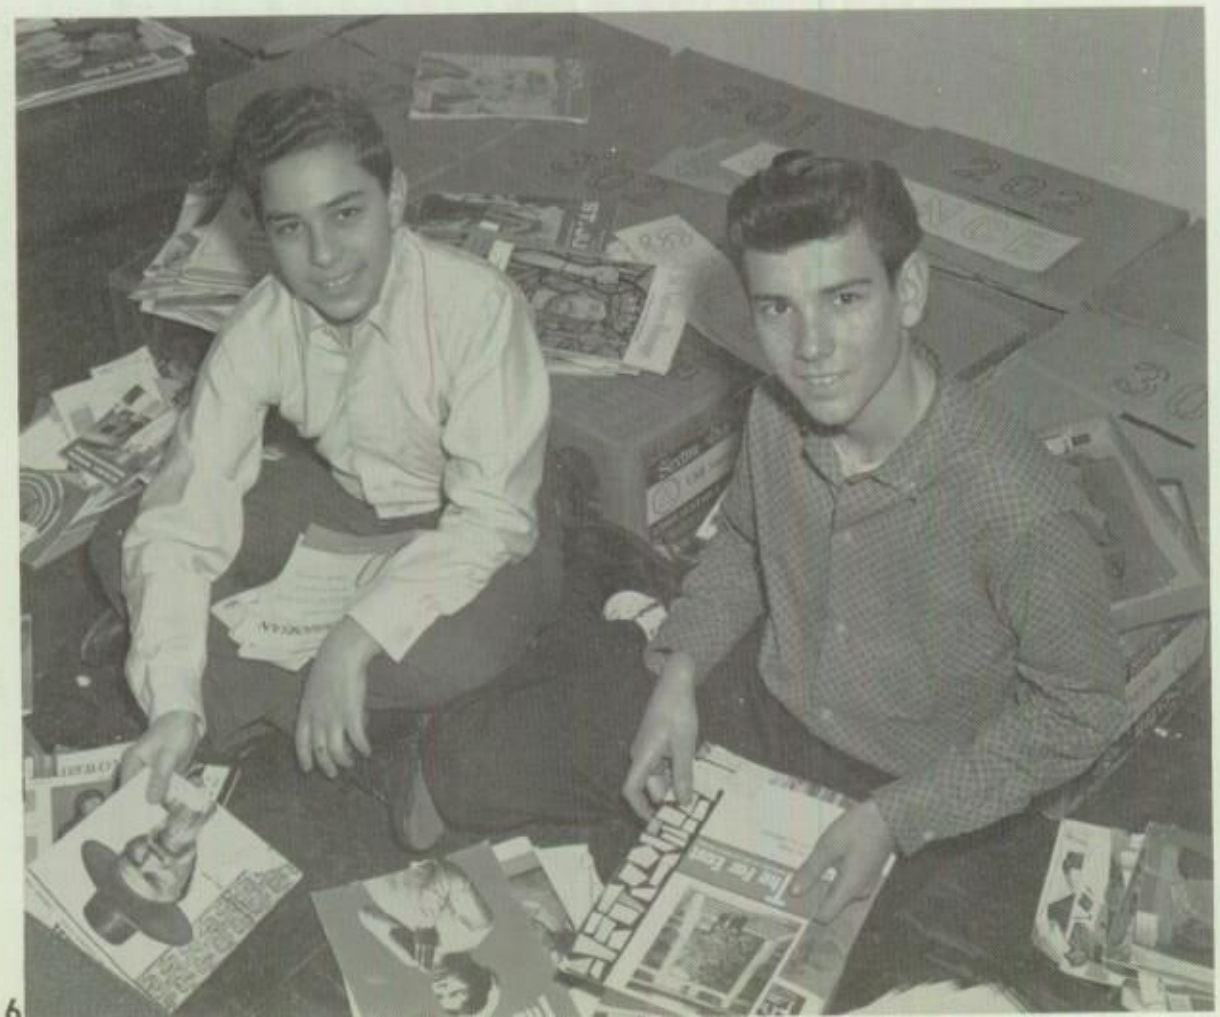
Some students were surprised that the auditorium could be turned into such a beautiful chapel for the retreat. The credit goes to Brother William and the ever-ready stage crew.

Serious and unusually quiet Juniors and Seniors wait in line outside the school parlor where Father James is hearing confessions. Four other priests were downstairs in the band room accommodating the long lines of penitents waiting there.

This year's retreat was conducted by amiable Father James of the Passionist fathers. The students are grateful to him for his kindness and consideration.

Anthony Vuozzo and Dennis Biagi volunteered their services to help Brother Matthew prepare for retreat by sorting out the hundreds of magazines that were available in each classroom for spiritual reading.



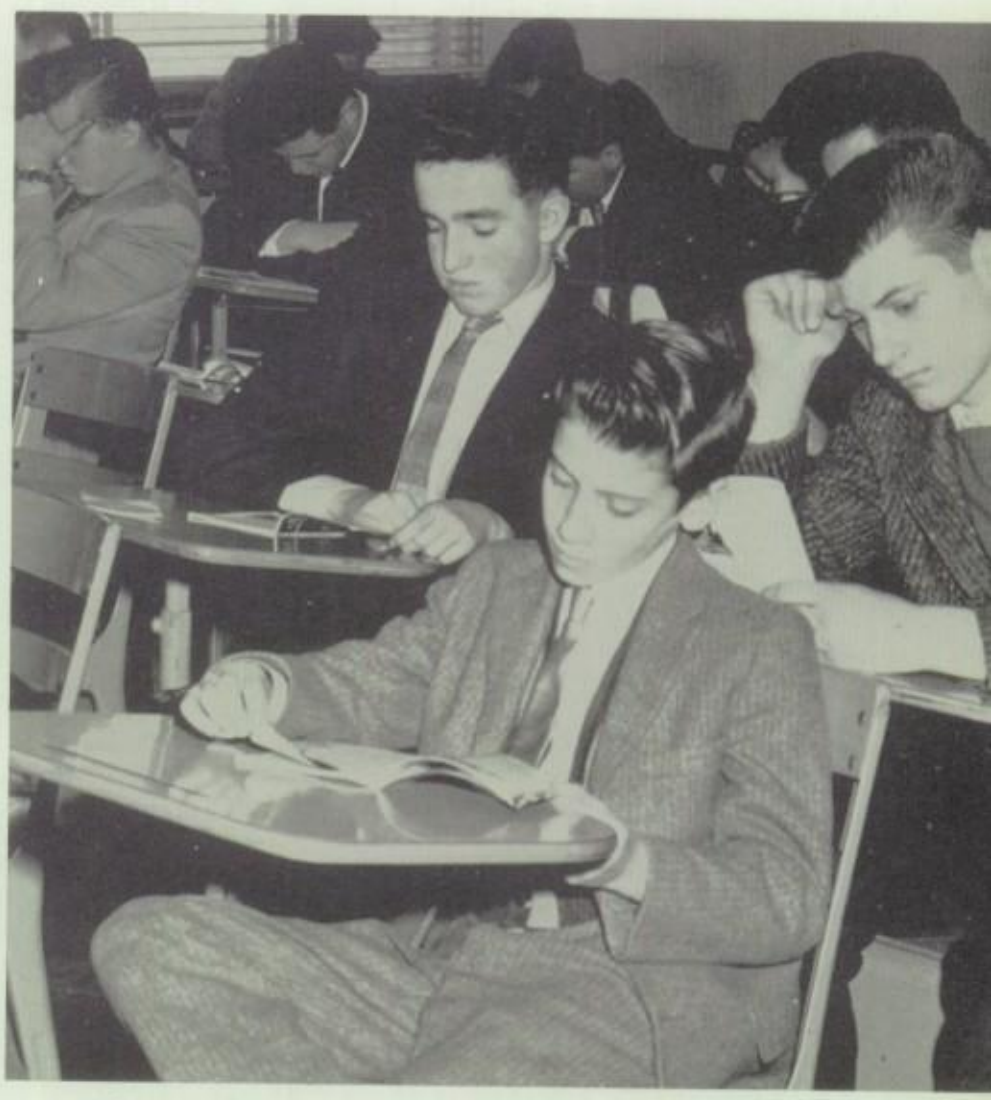
The usual hum and rattle of three-hundred diners was subdued to a whisper as retreatants ate their lunches in the manner suggested by the numerous wall signs strategically placed around the cafeteria.

. . . SILENT LINES OF PENITENTS AND COMMUNICANTS

School Chaplain, Father Gleason, assisted the retreat master in the daily distribution of Communion to the long lines of communicants who availed themselves of this wonderful opportunity to receive the Sacrament.

Ever aware of its unique ability to provide for the spiritual growth of its students, Holy Cross provides each student with the means of making an annual retreat; during which time silence prevails in the corridors and classrooms, confessions are heard, daily Mass attended, Communions received, conferences delivered and spiritual reading provided. Above all—classwork is suspended and all efforts are concentrated on the all important business of looking after spiritual needs.

Held each year during the week between semesters, the annual retreat is regarded by teachers and students alike as one of the most profitable weeks of the year.



These Sophomores were snapped by the photographer as they put to good use one of the many periods devoted to private spiritual reading.

SOME PREFERRED RETREATS IN THE CATSKILL COUNTRYSIDE AT VALATIE

St. Joseph's Retreat House, conducted by the Brothers of Holy Cross, situated in the rolling Catskill countryside eighteen miles south of Albany, New York.

Previous to this year, the privilege of attending one of the closed retreats at St. Joseph's Retreat House at Valatie, N.Y., was limited to Juniors and Seniors. This spring, however, saw the facilities of the weekend retreat opened to underclassmen also.

Those who availed themselves of this fine opportunity enjoyed not only the special facilities of the retreat house, but the beautiful Catskill countryside and the lively bus ride as well.

Brother John Joseph points out the approaching bus to a group of luggage-laden Junior and Senior retreatants.

Pete Gunther seems anxious to be on his way as the retreatants board the bus at the beginning of their four-hour bus ride on a scenic route to upper New York.

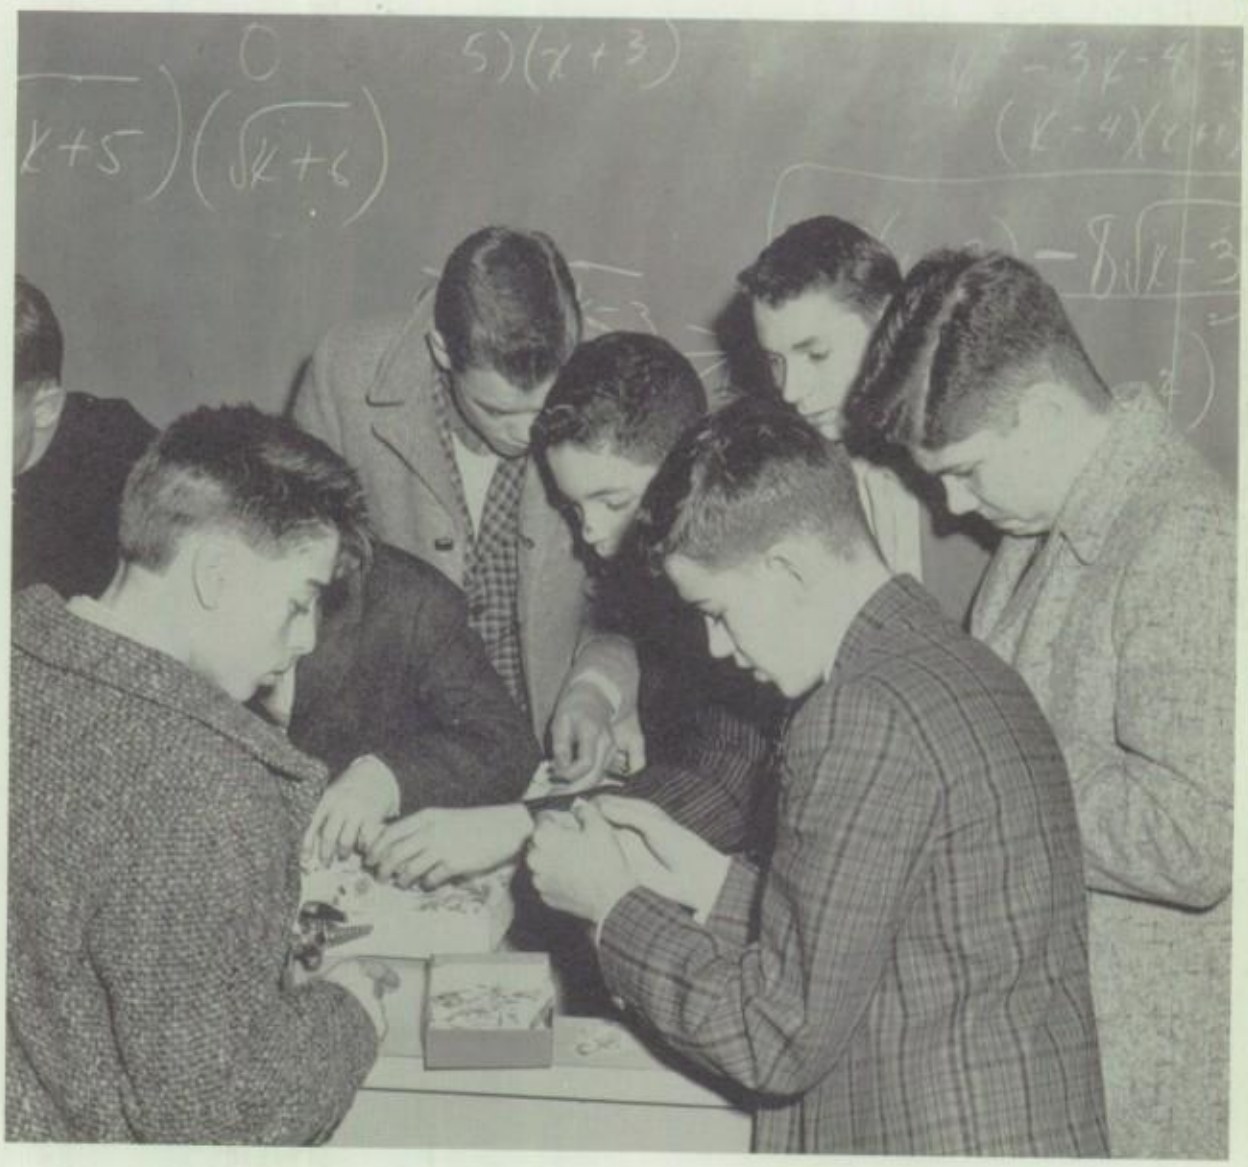
On January 13 at 2:45 p.m., Brother Josephat Chmielewski, C.S.C., supervised the organizational meeting of the Holy Cross Mission Unit.

The aim of this new club is to aid the home and foreign missions through the media of collecting, sorting and selling stamps; collecting old medals and rosaries, bandage material for leporsoriums, used razor blades, Christmas cards, and last but not least, the offering of prayers by each of its members for mission intentions.

It is hoped that through the opportunity provided by this Mission Unit that the students will have an excellent and very practicable way of exercising their Christian Charity and realizing their spiritual ideals. Now, a student will have a first-hand chance to truly enter into the spirit of sacrifice. He will be able to nurture immediately the supernatural virtues which, up to now, perhaps have been a dead letter—merely a page in the religion book.



Eager after school stamp collectors rush into Brother Josaphat's bargain basement in hopes of discovering one of those proverbial "rare finds."

FROM THE MIND OF MAN . . . THE THOUGHT . . . THE WORD . . .

Perhaps the largest scholastic department at Holy Cross, the English Department, under the Chairmanship of Brother Geoffrey Shiber, C.S.C., strives to develop a well-rounded student, capable in the handling of the tools of language and appreciative of the best in American English and world literature.

Freshman and Sophomore years are spent concentrating on the complexities of grammar and vocabulary study and the groundwork in composition.

In his Junior year the student becomes aware of the rich harvest of fine American literature that is his for the taking. And in the Senior year, he is introduced to the finest writers in English literature. Writing is now termed "creative," and finer points of expression are the ideal sought after.

Possibilities for broadening and developing language expression is opened outside the regular classroom procedure through numerous extracurricular activities sponsored either directly or indirectly by the English Department.

For those with the talent, time and tendency, opportunities for the perfecting of the art of forceful and persuasive speech are available in the Forensics Society, which trains students in debate, oratory and radio announcing. For those with a dramatic flair—the fall play provides the opportunity for excellent direction in acting and stage techniques.

Unlimited sources for development of writing skills are offered to the staff members of the school newspaper and yearbook.

A compulsory reading program, directed by Mr. Lipp, is aimed at bettering reading speed and comprehension, and if the results of this program indicate the need of further improvement on the part of the student, he is encouraged to participate in a more extensive reading clinic conducted during after school hours.

In summary, it may be said that the English Department at Holy Cross strives to condition the student to maintain his intellectual balance in a world flooded with cheap and degrading literature, and dominated by a tendency toward emphasis on scientific orientated thought.

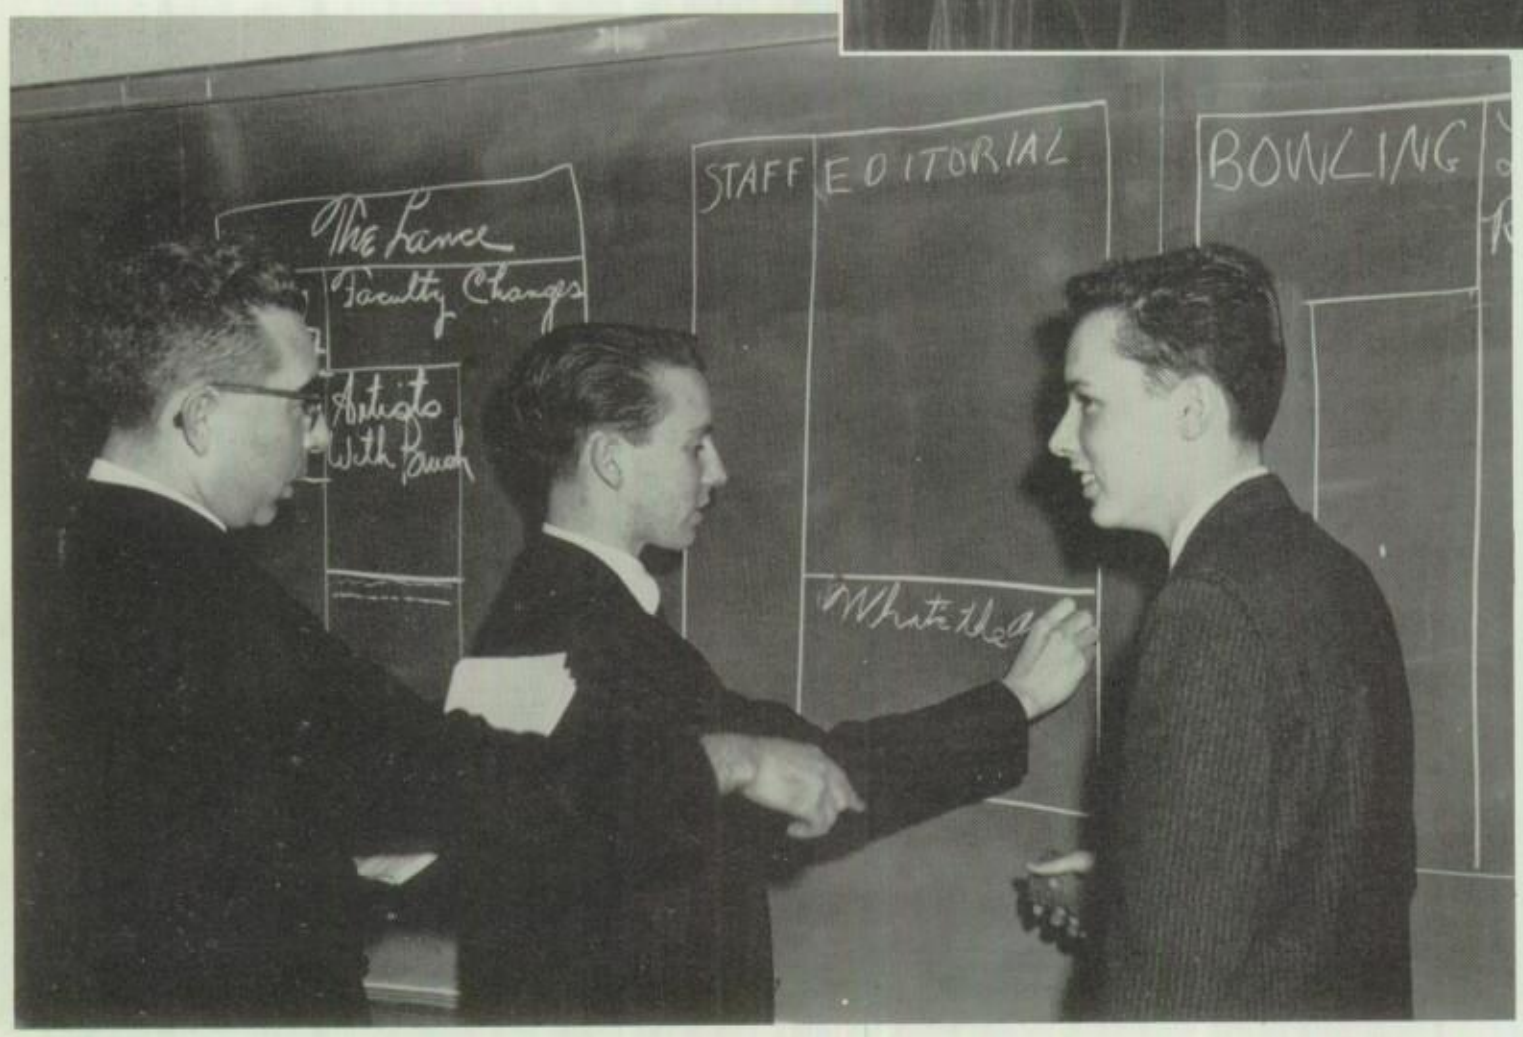
The Lance

STUDENT JOURNALISTS RAISE LANCE STANDARDS TO A NEW HEIGHT

Bob Johnson and Dave Fulton, LANCE Editors, pause outside the "Pub."



The usual disagreements go on as Brother John Joseph Donnelly, C.S.C., Moderator, interferes in the work of the editors.

For the fourth consecutive year, the LANCE continued to supply information and entertainment for Holy Cross students. From the narrow confines of the Publications room, a hard working staff under the direction of co-editors Bob Johnson and Dave Fulton and moderator Brother John Joseph Donnelly, C.S.C., turned out the year's six editions.

The past year saw the inauguration of an eight page literary supplement. The new addition gave a great number of students an opportunity to see their creative efforts in print.

Wide news coverage continued to provide a record of events for future reference. Regular features such as "and here we have," "What's the Answer?" and "The Inquiring Reporter" remained a source of knowledge and amusement for interested readers. Coverage of various clubs and organizations was extended to a greater number of students.

During the fall, the LANCE editors bravely ventured forth from the "Pub" to attend the journalism school of the Catholic Institute of the Press. The seven session course provided these hardy souls with a greater knowledge of newspaper techniques.

The year's final issue, traditionally written by the departing Seniors, brought to a close a memorable year of frantic deadlines, hurried rewriting, and confused copy.

It is surely a credit to the school that the LANCE was published entirely on the school premises. Few schools can boast a printing department set up to take care of all the needs of a full-fledged and attractive publication. The thanks of the LANCE staff goes to Brother Thomas Burns and his student printers for the fine job they did in printing the paper, and striving constantly to improve the appearance of the paper and raise the level of its artistic standards.

1960 CROSS

A new school year brought with it the problem of commencing production of another yearbook. Last year's initial issue of the CROSS had been well received by the students and faculty, and it was hoped that a new staff would be equal to the task of producing a volume of equal caliber again this year.

After close to a hundred seniors answered the call for volunteers, and a staff list of approximately forty-five members was accepted, work on the annual began in earnest. Schedules were arranged for portraits for the three-hundred seniors with the DELMA STUDIOS of Manhattan. Their representatives set up a miniature studio in the art room and in a few short days the entire class had been photographed, with a minimum of class interruption. A few weeks later, the studio again returned and photographed the groups of underclassmen. Fifty-nine pictures were taken at this time.

Meanwhile, the Publications office buzzed (and frequently roared) with the click of typewriters and confusion of the other staffs as they set about layout work and the identification of photos. Perhaps one of the most tedious of jobs fell to the Underclass Staff, whose job it was to check the identity and spelling of the twelve hundred names of underclassmen. They knew that there were bound to be errors in spelling, but they determined that they would be reduced to the smallest number possible.

The Art Editor began his work on the pen and ink sketch of the school building and the Literary Editor began parceling out assignments for the various writeups. After careful deliberation and many doubts, the moderators and editors determined that the book would be arranged in a unique manner—completely according to departments, without the use of the usual divider pages, faculty section, social section or classroom section. Instead, they determined that the book would progress in an orderly fashion from department to department, including all activities—scholastic and social—pertinent to each departmental group.

The dangers of such an organization of material were obvious from the start, but the desire to produce a book that reads from cover to cover as a single unified narrative was strong enough to carry the day. Some unforeseen difficulties did crop up, but we hope that they have been dealt with as gracefully as possible and that this issue of the CROSS will be a source of pleasure and inspiration to all who come in contact with it.

Brother Peter was a familiar sight paging through his dictionary in an attempt to check up on the errors of the staff and Jon spent much of his smiling time doing just about everything that needed doing—especially running up to the radio room with seventh perioa "smoke signals" from the moderator.

and PAUL JAVORA, his assistant . . .

BILL DOLAN—Literary Editor tackled a monumental task in assigning and assembling the copy for the book, which amounted to more than ten times the amount appearing in print last year.

DAVE FULTON—Sports Editor, served not only the Yearbook in this capacity but the school newspaper as well. As usual, his work was accurate and of the highest caliber.

BROTHER JAMES MADIGAN — Moderator, and BILL YONESCU—Co-Editor, confer on a choice of possible cover materials. Bill contributed invaluable assistance in every department of the book, and developed into a fine layout man.

BROTHER JOHN CAPISTRAN—Photography Moderator not only set up the efficient darkroom procedure and trained the men, but also contributed many hours of "field work" during the sports season.

VINNY COSTA—Art Editor, contributed many hours of his exceptional talent toward the artistic excellence of the book. During the process, he mastered a number of new art techniques.

The Holy Cross Forensic Society, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Lipp, had a profitable season for wins, places and shows. They came out on top, or very near it, in most of their meets.

This year's team was fortified by the addition of a number of enthusiastic Freshmen, and kept strong by the return of last year's underclass speakers. Noticeably short on Senior talent, the group should be strong on returning veterans next year.

They deserve a great deal of credit for the many hours of preparation expended on their activity, and for the time they devote to meets during many of the week-ends throughout the school year.

Each day the familiar chimes of Station WHCHS ring through the building to proclaim the official beginning of the school day, and the reading of the Religious Bulletin and recitation of the Morning Offering.

Later in the day the group airs any school news or bulletin which have been turned in to them during the day. Each day then ends with recitation of the Act of Contrition.

The group uses well their many opportunities for rendering innumerable service to the faculty and student body.

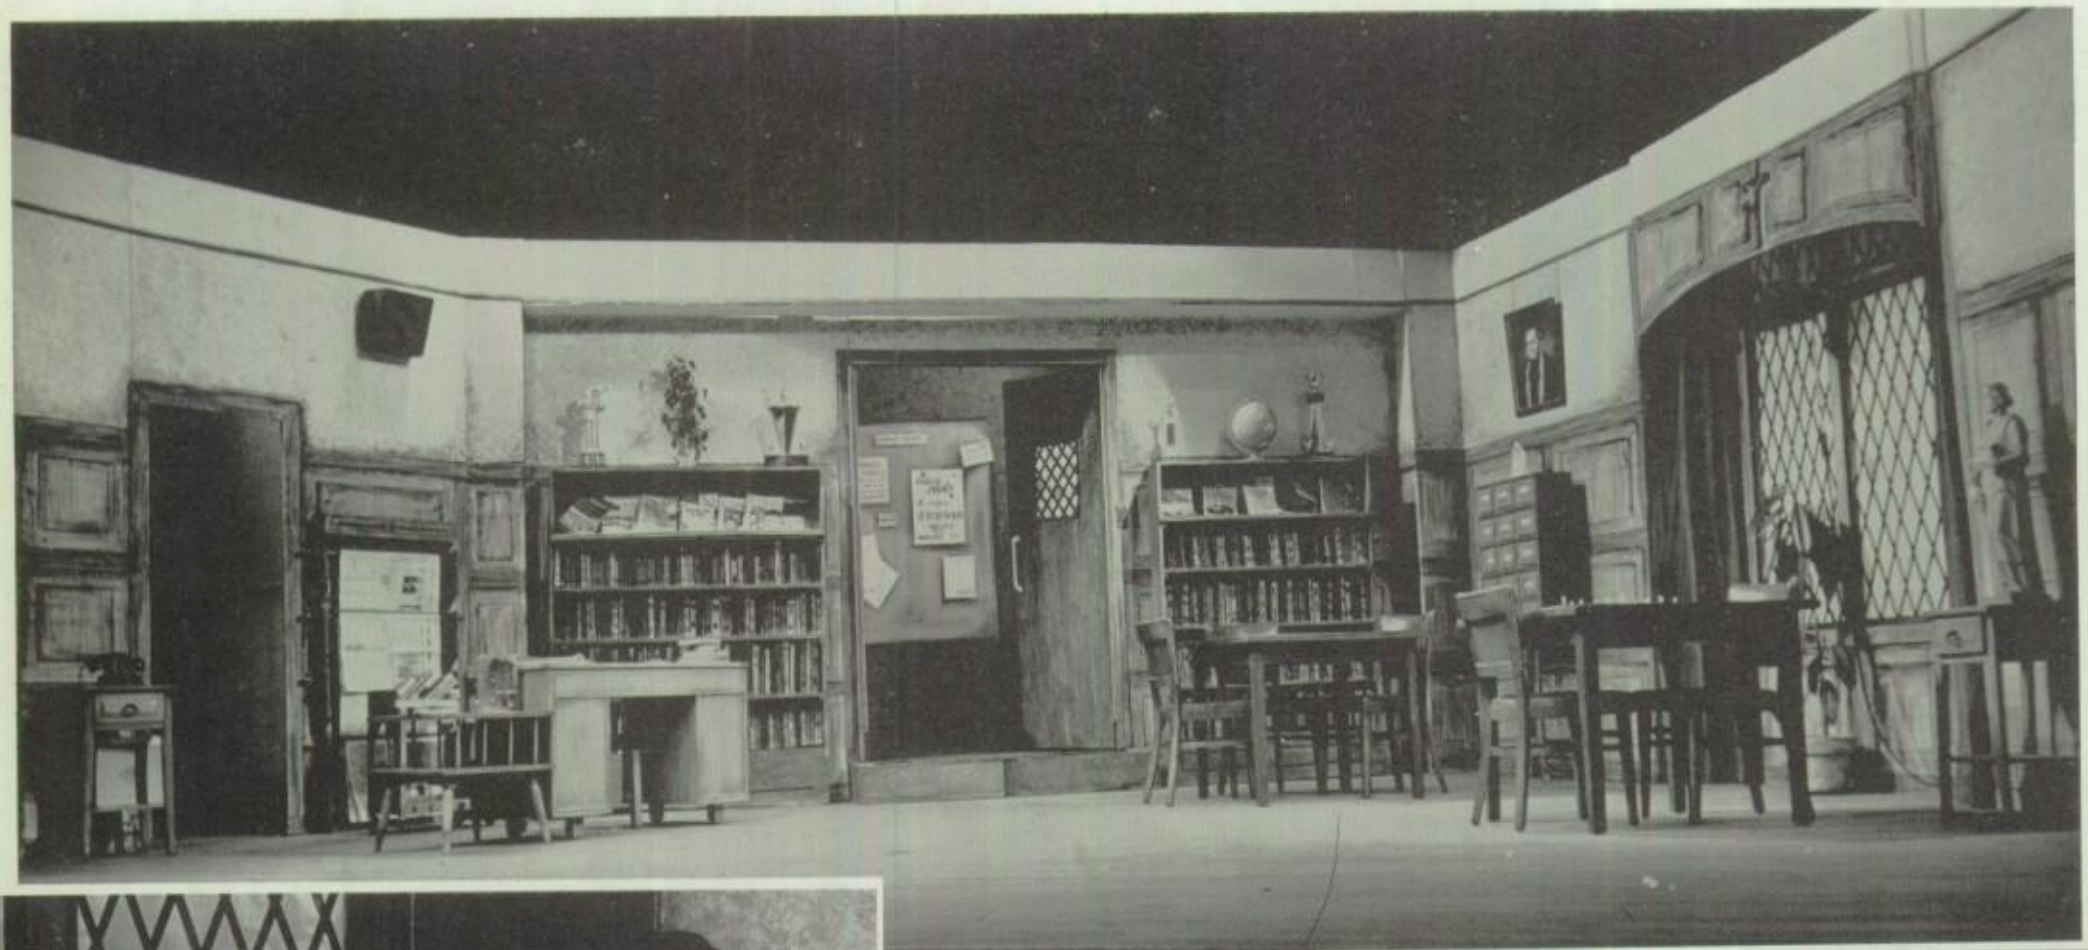
STUDENT THEATRICAL CHARMS AUDIENCE



A stunning set of rich wood-paneling greeted the play-goer as the curtain opened on Brother Goeffrey's original comedy.

The author receive congratulations from last year's lead Gerry Galgan, as George Paront waits for an autograph.

Sometimes "Friar" Ed got carried away by his role.

No party would be complete without some horseplay, so Tom Tarpey willingly stirs up a lusty cheer.

Except for the class ring that he forgot to remove during the dress rehearsal, Denny Powers could easily pass for the amiable Brother he portrayed during the play.

"Brother" John Zaleski surveys the scene with proper dignity.

Will Tom Oddo be able to prevent bloodshed between Tarpey and Ted Spagna? Tune in next week, folks . . .

These smiles only indicate that the first trying rehearsal in Shakespearean costumes is over with. It could be Kathy Hoehlein is being kidded about her headgear.

Cast members found out the hard way what "greasepaint" meant. Mrs. Weille and Mrs. Callahan man the cold cream. Larry Lavagetto is the victim.

Mythical "St. Joseph's High" even boasted (?) a Glee Club.

. . . A HOMEMADE "ROMEO" FOR HOLY CROSS

Not all fans read their programs carefully, so not everyone who attended the performances of THE RELUCTANT ROMEO were aware that the entire production—with the exception of the rented Shakespearean costumes—was the outcome of Holy Cross talent and time.

The dramatics department was very proud to present the first original work of one of the Holy Cross faculty members, Brother Geoffrey, the Head of the English Department. All those who witnessed this delightful and sensitively written play will agree that, first attempt though it may be, there was nothing amateurish about it.

Certainly every observant student of Holy Cross recognized whimsical traces of school activities typical of the Cross. Student-teacher situations and teen-age triumphs and tragedies were humorously and believably portrayed. The technique of a "play within a play" allowed an opportunity for a few beautifully costumed and movingly acted scenes from Shakespeare to be enacted within the framework of a contemporary play, without the awkwardness sometimes associated with such an obvious technique in the hands of less gifted authors.

The striking set, constructed by Brother Arthur O'Brien and the stage crew, and painted by Brother James Madigan and Al Bianculli, provided a perfect atmosphere for the play. The lighting, under the supervision of John derBoghossian, and the sound and background provided by Bob Shilling supplied the production with those innumerable professional touches which have become the trademark of student theatricals at Holy Cross.

LATIN

A PRECISE NEEDED DISCIPLINE

The twin aims of the Latin Department are to deepen the students' appreciation of the Roman Classics and to give them a precise discipline of the language. The four-year course, under the Chairmanship of Brother Francis Regis, C.S.C., is divided into two obligatory years and two elective years. The Freshmen try to master the basic Latin grammar, while the Sophomores struggle through the Argonauts and Caesar's Gallic Wars. The Juniors and Seniors take more advanced courses; the former pursue Cicero's orations, the latter read the intricate poetry of Virgil.

To aid the student in his understanding and appreciation of Roman culture, class discussions and various projects depicting Roman life, architecture and art are added as complements to the classes.

There are approximately 650 students accommodated in the Latin Department. The Freshmen and Sophomores have six classes each, while the Seniors and Juniors have two classes each.

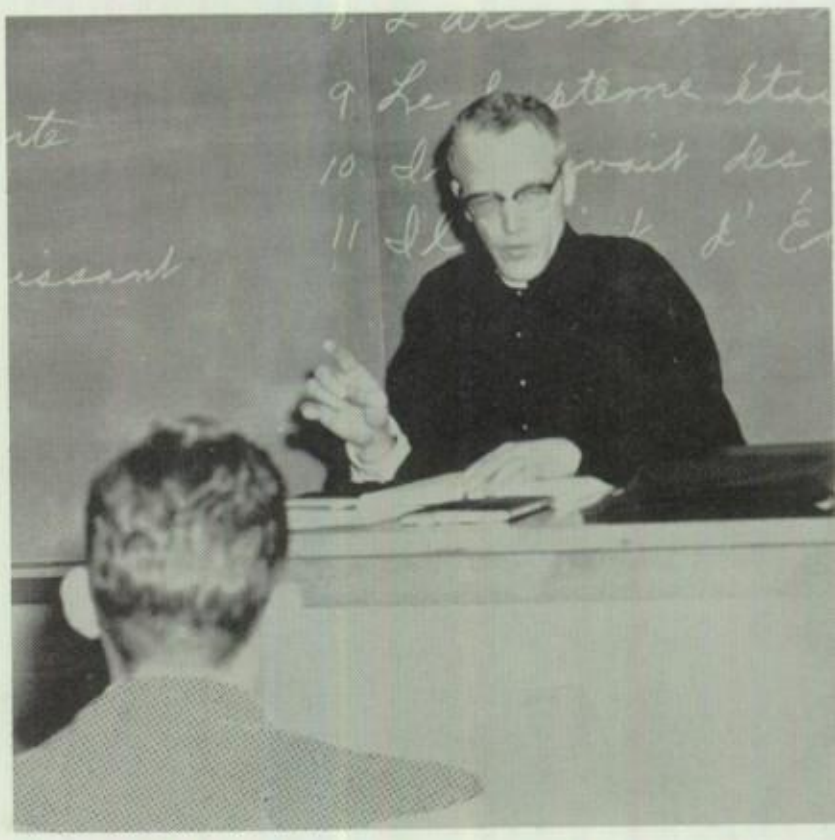
Brother Regis gives Latin scholar, Bob Johnson, a helpful push through his translation of Virgil.

Great effort is made, however, to teach the grammar, vocabulary, and idioms proper to the language, in order to give the student some learning tools if he wishes to pursue the study of French. Unfortunately, too, time limits the amount of cultural work that can be done in a short course, but here, too, a reasonable amount of time is devoted to learning something about the people who use the language in their everyday lives. In an exchange of ideas between teacher and student, a certain amount of understanding of, and friendship for, foreign peoples is achieved, and this should be one of the most worthwhile results of any language study.

French teachers, Brothers Ralph and Laurian plot an imaginary trip across the map of France.

FRENCH

In keeping with the best traditions, and incorporating some of the more recent methods in the aural-oral approach, the French Department at Holy Cross offers a two-year course which strives to interest the student in the language and prepare him for further study. In order to realize the ideals suggested by modern educators, a student would have to hear the language spoken frequently, and since the average American student is not reared in a home where a foreign language is spoken regularly, these ideals are very difficult to attain. For this reason and the fact that so little time is devoted to the study of language, little can be done, generally speaking, in achieving the ideal of fluency in the use of a language as a medium of conversation.



Brother Laurian stresses a fine point in pronunciation.

SPANISH

Much the same can be said for the Spanish Department regarding aims and procedures. Today's American youth are aware of the growing interest of the United States and other world powers in the Spanish and Latin American peoples as exemplified in the newspapers and the many diplomatic missions and tours. In view of this the knowledge of Spanish as a modern language bears some consideration.

The two-year Spanish course at Holy Cross emphasizes reading and grammatical construction as well as an insight into the cultural background of the Spanish speaking countries. An attempt and desire is to inculcate to a degree an appreciation of the various problems confronting the Spanish people. A use of film strips, movies, newspapers, phonograph records are used to carry out this aim of progressing in the understanding of the language and the culture.

There are approximately two hundred and fifty students enrolled in the modern language courses.

A background in Spanish culture was supplied by Brother John through the use of colorful filmstrips.

World History
English 2

In the fields of diplomacy, politics, public relations, law—in fact, in our day-to-day activity and social intercourse, history certainly can add its wealth of human experience and knowledge toward our development. The development of the individual in widening his intellectual horizons and consequently uplifting us as a community, as a people, as a race, is one of the primary objectives of the study of the social sciences.

Man's problems, his endeavors to meet these problems of life, his successes and failures are repeated to an extent down through the ages. Advancement in anything can only come about effectively by way of analysis and refinement from a foundation already well established and ever being built upon. If each of us had to meet our life from the beginning without help from others we would most likely be forever starting and never growing beyond a given point. In a practical sense, therefore, the lessons we can derive from a sound study of history are many.

Mr. Joseph Lipp, the able head of the Social Studies Department, realizing the importance of his Department, supervises its administration and application with great interest and care.

An unbiased view where applicable and a level-headed, well informed citizen with the highest regard for the worth of the individual is the aim and hope for each student of Holy Cross in his social studies.

A SEARCH FOR MORE EFFICIENT METHODS IN THE COMPLEX WORLD OF BUSINESS

The objective of the Business Department is to provide for the students who are pursuing a college preparatory program and those students who are enrolled in the general non-college program.

Typing, Bookkeeping I and II, Business Management and Business Law are the required and elective business courses available throughout the four years under the college prep program; Introduction to Business, Typing, Business Arithmetic, Business Management and Business Law are the subjects taken by non-college students.

By the very nature of the majority of the high school business subjects, the aim is to impart to the students a practical working understanding of business organization, procedure and management without at all neglecting or minimizing the provision for a sufficient amount of fundational background knowledge supporting the business world. A business graduate will thus be well prepared to go on for higher studies in business education or else take his place vocationally in this field.

Whenever and wherever possible, ethical business practices which are based upon the natural law of God are emphasized and drawn out of the subject matter in order that a Holy Cross business graduate will have the opportunity toward becoming a credit to himself, to his fellow man, and to his country.

Best Wishes for your Junior year.

THE MIND OF MAN

MEASURING THE UNKNOWN

IN THE INFINITE PHENOMENA OF THE AMAZING WORLD OF SCIENCE

The Science Department at Holy Cross, in keeping with today's emphasis on science, offers a thorough program designed to give every student a background in science. Although it would not mind producing an Einstein or a Pasteur, this is not its primary end. Its first aim is to give each student a deeper knowledge and insight into the world about us. Then, for those who intend to continue in science and engineering, a program is offered to give a solid foundation for their future studies.

To accomplish these aims this Department has established a curriculum which includes the life sciences, the physical and earth sciences. The department offers courses in Biology, Physics, and Chemistry. These three courses are enough to satisfy the first aim of the Department—to give a deeper knowledge and insight into the world around us. To satisfy those students who are not content with just the required amount, the department offers various allied activities. Each student is able to choose the club he wants to participate in and thus specialize in the field of his greatest interest.

Under the direction of the Department Head, Brother Josaphat, this department meets the demands of our modern culture. Science and scientific knowledge are fast becoming the standard by which we judge a country. The Merchantile Theory of judging a country by its wealth is on the way out. Today the great country is determined by its scientific knowledge and advancement, while its gold mass has become secondary. Thus, this department is not only producing the scientists of tomorrow, but also answering the call of our country in helping to fight the cold war.

MATHEMATICS . . .

Mathematics, often referred to as the language of the sciences, is taught in many forms at Holy Cross. Beside the regular courses in algebra, geometry and trigonometry there are classes in calculus and modern mathematics. These courses are geared to make the heavy burden of college math lighter for the science student. Every person who takes these courses should be able to find his way through higher institutions much easier. The Mathematics Department under the direction of Mr. James Close tries to create a logical outlook concerning the different applications and theories. This state of mind must exist if a man decides to major in any of the sciences.

From the cuneiform mathematics of the Sumerians to the present day numerals, logic plays the major part. After four years of study, terms such as complex number, curve, decimal, dimension, and determinant become common. Slowly we began to assimilate the knowledge that was collectively given to us by the Greeks, French, Italians and English. Soon we will put this learned material to practice in college. Then we will come to realize the value of the math courses taught us at Holy Cross.

As the above display of work suggests, members of the Art Department have engaged in a busy and fruitful year. This particular display is the work of only seven members of the advanced class. Two other larger classes concentrated on design; one group tending toward commercial art techniques, and the other toward architecture and spacial relations.

This year witnessed changes in the art curriculum, designed to broaden the scope of class instruction, introduce new techniques seldom used in high school classes, and help prepare the more serious artists for examinations and entrance requirements and portfolios for art schools.

As a result of a poll of students interested in art classes and art careers, class groups were arranged and a syllabus planned accordingly. This spring a similar poll will be taken in preparation for next fall's classes. The interest of the students fell into three categories this year, hence, the division into design for commerce and architecture, and painting or illustrating. Books on art techniques and art history were made available to the students through the art departments own lending library.

Because of the above display of student work, and others which appeared throughout the school, general student interest in the department greatly increased during the year. It is hoped that next September will see as substantial an increase in art students as was witnessed last fall.

The calibre of fine artwork obvious throughout the yearbook is evidence of the successful adaptation of many of the commercial techniques mastered by some of the Senior art students.

These are among the best of the posters submitted to the national Traffic Poster Contest.

Music has always had a prominent place at Holy Cross. A period for Band instruction has been included in the curriculum, individual instruction of students on the musical instrument of their choice has been provided for, and a special position of honor has always been reserved for the school band at all major school functions.

The music department this year is under the capable direction of Brother Renatus Foldenauer, C.S.C., who came to Holy Cross after serving in the same capacity for many years at Vincentian Institute in Albany. Brother brought with him the same devotion to fine music and the same insistence on perfection which enabled him to turn out first rate musicians in the past. That the varsity band has approached close to these ideals began to become obvious earlier this past spring when, in its first competition of this kind, the band earned an award of "Outstanding" at the First Annual Music Festival of the Diocesan C.Y.O. Although it will be a number of weeks after this book goes to press when they also enter one of the New York State festivals, we are sure that their performance will be as excellent.

The Holy Cross Varsity Band of 1959-60 is composed of seventy-five members. Their work begins the first week of school and continues until they play at the graduation exercises late in June. Besides their work during half-time at football games, the band participates in parades and music festivals and performs at their annual Spring Concert each spring. Freshmen are encouraged at the beginning of their high school career to join the Freshman Band and prepare during their first year at Holy Cross to take the place in the Varsity Band of the graduating seniors the following year.

This year also saw the inauguration of a swing band of twenty members, who made their debut at the March meeting of the Fathers' Club. We hope to hear much more from them in the future.

MUSICAL COMEDY PROVES AN EVER APPRECIATED ACTIVITY

"Officer" Gene Kempton lays down the law to the "Boys."

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the dedication of the Brooklyn Bridge afforded the student theater with its theme for the Spring musical, "The Boys from Brooklyn."

A cast of one hundred and forty-five teen-agers acted, danced, and sang their way through the lively two and a half hour musical. Weeks of rehearsal under the direction of choreographer Joseph Hayes sharpened the dancers to near perfection. Music director Clay Boland, Jr., spent many hours perfecting the work of the mixed vocal choruses and the soloists. Brother Geoffrey did a wonderful job directing the dialogue and providing the leads with numerous touches of stage business which helped raise the level of the production above the level of amateur entertainment.

Brother Daniel Redmond headed the hard-working stage crew and Brother Gerard Suddick saw to it that makeup, moustaches and victorian sideburns were applied where needed. The production was written by Brother James Madigan who was also responsible for the set design.

Local Brooklynites spread the news of the coming of the great bridge, in the show's rousing opener by Clay Boland, Jr.

THE STAGE CREW

THE MEN BEHIND THE SCENES

It would be difficult to imagine how the Holy Cross student theatre productions could have achieved such a high degree of perfection without the fine backing of the department's smooth-functioning stage crew.

Early in the year the group was re-organized under the direction of Brother Arthur O'Brien, who was responsible for directing the construction of the beautiful set for the Reluctant Romeo. When Brother Arthur returned to Texas at mid-semester time, Brother Geoffrey took over as moderator. He worked with the group on the Squires variety show and the annual Band Concert.

Besides these major entertainments, the crew functioned at all assemblies, parents meetings, and school retreats. Again this year they did a great deal of construction work in the stage storage rooms.

AND THOSE WHO PHOTOGRAPHED THE SCENES

One of the outstanding groups in rendering service to the school has been the Phototradesmen Guild. This group has been responsible for processing all of the candids used in the CROSS and LANCE. Their hours of labor in the dark confines of the school's darkroom are deeply appreciated by the CROSS staff.

Besides the service mentioned above, the group has as an objective the learning of proper techniques in taking and processing photographs. All of the excellent equipment of the darkroom is at their disposal.

Members of the Camera Club are introduced to these processes also, and spend some time in discussing their work and the work of professionals in the field.

A Freshman group has also been formed and part of their work is concerned with keeping the contact print file up to date.

FOOD FOR THE MIND OF MAN PRESERVED IN HIS PRINTING . . .

Another unique feature of the curriculum at Holy Cross is the inclusion of a Graphic Arts Department. Headed by Brother Thomas Burns, this two-year old department has grown in concept, output and prestige during its young existence.

Attending regular classes of instruction, graphic arts students master the fundamentals of graphic arts techniques, namely, hand-setting of type, layout work and the use of hand and automatic presses. The department is equipped with two hand presses and one automatic press. Student printers also learn how to manipulate the electric stapling machine and an industrial size paper cutter.

Besides the work done in their classes, a group of these students also report to work on Saturdays to function as a work group. It is their job to assist Brother Thomas in setting up and printing the LANCE, the Province newspaper of THE HOLY CROSS BROTHERS. They also print all school forms, tickets and programs, and have recently printed an attractive two color vocations folder for the Brothers. This folder was designed in conjunction with the Holy Cross Art Department.

These are busy young men, intent upon mastering their art and bettering the calibre of their work. The school has watched with pride their growing accomplishments.

EXTENDING THE POWER OF THE HAND OF MAN

Many visitors to Holy Cross express surprise at discovering an excellent and fully equipped shop in the school basement. Their surprise increases when they are told that courses in shop are offered as a part of the curriculum. What they learn then is that the school is distinctive in its program in that it offers, along with its full schedule of complete "prep" courses, a general course which covers all phases of training in industrial arts also.

This unique arrangement is a successful attempt on the part of the school to provide for the talents and tendencies of all of its students. In this same regard mention might also be made here of the Graphic Arts Department and a complete Art Department, with facilities for ceramics.

The shop is under the direction of Brother Joseph Dunne; Brother Thomas Burns also teaches in the department.

Shop courses are available to Juniors and Seniors only. Each class, with a capacity of nineteen, starts out with the fundamentals, learning the correct use of machine and hand tools. Shop equipment includes the finest precision lathes and ranges down to the smallest of delicate hand tools.

THE LIBRARY

STOREHOUSE OF THE TREASURED VOLUMES OF THE MIND OF MAN

The Holy Cross Library amply fulfills its job as an educational tool and supplement for study, through an excellent reference section.

Under the direction of the Librarian, Brother Franciscus Willett, C.S.C., the library was started and has been expanded in both scope and content in the five years of its existence. It procures the finest available literature of all kinds, fitted to suit all tastes, and provides fully for the needs of the student, both academically and for private reading pleasure.

The library listening room is well stocked with a varied selection of recordings both as a teaching tool and as a means of arousing interest in literature for outside pleasure and benefit.

Some of the varied services which the library provides are vocational and pamphlet files, and a file of mounted reproductions of fine art masterpieces. The Librarian and his staff of student volunteers strive to keep the Holy Cross library running in a smooth, harmonious manner and succeed admirably in this respect. They are continually stimulating interest in literature and intellectual endeavors in general, through the use of varied attractive displays.

The fact that the volumes contained in the library are so diversified is not by accident. Each book has been carefully selected for its value as an academic aid or for its literary content. We at Holy Cross are thankful for our well stocked and well run library, for the aid it provides, and the riches it contains within its volumes.

GUIDANCE AN AUXILIARY TO ALL DEPARTMENTS

Beneath the surface of adolescent unawareness might lie an ability, an attitude, a talent that need only be discovered to realize its actualization. To aid the student toward this discovery, a battery of tests is administered over the period of his four years at Holy Cross by the Guidance Department, under the direction of Brother Ralph Jaworski, C.S.C.

In an attempt to utilize every available means to direct students toward the individual goal where happiness and success seem his to attain, this department administers the Iowa I. Q. Test, the Otis Classification Test, the SRA Primary Abilities Test, the Kuder Preference Record, Tests of General Ability, and the Youth Inventory SRA Test.

For the Junior, and especially the Senior, only steps away from college, there are available such opportunities as the National Merit Scholarship Exam, the New York State Regents Scholarship Exam, and the College Board Examinations. These tests enable the school administration to choose wisely the course of studies a boy can handle during his high school years and aid in the direction of the Senior toward a field, a course of studies, and particular colleges where his potential can be more readily realized.

Senior Jim O'Reilly browses through the catalogue rack in search of more information regarding Catholic Colleges.

Bill Ricca awaits his turn to discuss exam results with Brother Ralph.

College Board scores seem to be the crux of the discussion between Guidance Director Brother Ralph and Senior Danny Russo.

In addition to the above mentioned aids, is the Reading Program set up at Holy Cross to increase speed comprehension and to raise the level of comprehension. There are a number of groups engaged in the extra-curricular reading program. This phase of the guidance department is under the direction of Mr. Joseph Lipp, who has also conducted reading clinics at Holy Cross for the purpose of instructing the nuns from area grammar schools in some of the latest reading techniques.

Mr. Lipp adjusts the word pace-setter for members of his morning reading program.

CATHOLIC COLLEGES PRESENT PROGRAM FOR SENIORS AND PARENTS AT SECOND ANNUAL COLLEGE NIGHT

Under the direction of Brother Marcian, Dean of Men, Holy Cross held its second annual College Night, Monday, October 26. Representatives from twenty Catholic colleges were present at the school offering bulletins, pamphlets, and brochures concerning their respective colleges to this year's graduates. The schools present offered a vast curriculum that is capable of fitting the needs of any average high school senior.

This night should have proved the turning point in the educational background of our outgoing seniors. The representatives of each college answered questions regarding the colleges with respect to their programs, campus, employment, scholarships, extracurricular activities and any other questions in the minds of the students and their parents. Some of the outstanding colleges from the surrounding area that were represented: St. John's University; St. Francis College, Brooklyn; Fordham University; Manhattan College; Iona College, New Rochelle; and Fairfield University in Fairfield, Connecticut. For those students who wish to board on campus, such schools as Holy Cross College, Worcester; Boston College, Boston; Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana; Siena, Loudonville; Dayton University, Dayton; and Providence, Rhode Island, offer outstanding facilities to them.

Many of last year's seniors took advantage of the opportunities of college night to settle on the college of their choice, and apply immediately for admission. The class of '59, the first graduating class to leave Holy Cross for higher educational circles, can truly be said to be nation-wide, with six students in Texas and one enrolled in the far-off University of Alaska. Although St. John's in particular and the metropolitan colleges in general admitted most of the students, they are well-scattered in colleges across the country. Three hundred and sixty-five graduates are attending seventy-three different schools, with one hundred and fifteen ex-Knights at St. John's. Other colleges in and around the city, which were represented in both college nights also claim a goodly number: Manhattan 20, Iona 14, Fordham 13, and St. Francis of Brooklyn 9.

Fifty-six of these graduates are attending college on scholarships, many of them awarded through the New York State Regents Scholarship Board.

THOSE WHO RENDER VALUABLE SERVICE TO ALL

MRS. FLORENCE HERZ

MRS. DELLA MADDEN

Our gratitude to Mrs. Herz and Mrs. Madden for the many kind favors they have performed for us.

Their "woman's touch" has been a welcomed comfort when fevers and headaches and split seams needed tending to.

Institutional food seldom wins out in comparison with mom's home-cooked "tailored to our taste" dishes; nevertheless, the nine substitute "moms" of the school cafeteria staff do a fine job in providing meals for over 1500 Holy Cross students and faculty members.

The eight ladies who work under the direction of Mrs. Mae Nintzel have worked extra hard this year to provide their charges with a wider assortment of tasty dishes, ranging from steaming Pizza to Thanksgiving Turkey.

Cafeteria Director Brother Harold would have a heavy enough responsibility on his hands if the scope of his job ended with the feeding of the student body, but watching this energetic Brother tending to his many duties would lead one to believe that his work only starts here.

The cafeteria is usually a beehive of activity—hot chocolate before school, milkshakes after school and social affairs at night and on weekends. One busy Saturday saw the cafeteria decorated for use by the Woman's Guild for a morning affair, cleaned and redecorated for use that evening for a dance.

Brother Harold, assisted by his crew of twenty-four students, is the man behind these quick changes, and busy moderators are grateful to him for the hours of service he renders to them in preparing the cafeteria for the use of their organizations.

Mrs. Neston

Few students are aware that the school contains complete laundry facilities, comparable to those of a small commercial laundry. This is where the personal and community laundry is prepared for the religious residing at Holy Cross. This large-scale operation is faithfully undertaken each week by Mrs. Neston, whose careful service is deeply appreciated by the Brothers

ATTENDING TO THE DEMANDS OF

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Dr. Oddo kneels in the sideline quagmire at the Thanksgiving game.

Santucci grimaces as fellow freshmen bare their arms for the yearly tuberculin test.

Thanks to the Department of Health of the City of New York, Holy Cross has a physician in residence at the school five days a week, Dr. Dominic Oddo, M.D. It is Doctor's job to supervise the general health of the boys, reviewing their health records which have followed them from grammar school, to determine whether any students are in need of special medical attention. Conferences are then held with these students to make whatever medical arrangements are necessary.

One of the most consistent services rendered to the students by Doctor Oddo is the physical examination for working papers, which must be performed by a doctor approved by the city Board of Health, rather than a family physician. Those students intending to engage in an interscholastic sports program must also undergo a complete medical examination previous to their acceptance by the team.

DR. DOMINIC ODDO, M.D.
School Physician

Emphasis has been placed on encouraging each student as he enters Holy Cross in his Freshman year, to receive parental permission to undergo a yearly Tuberculosis test. This year introduced the administering of the Heaf Tuberculin Test, a complete departure from the previous tuberculin tests administered in the past. Students registering positive results in these tests are sent, each year that they are at Holy Cross, for X-ray examination.

His keen interest in all phases of life at Holy Cross has led Dr. Oddo to volunteer his services as Team Physician, and he is a familiar sight at all of the Holy Cross football games. Thanks is also in order here to Dr. Richard Dietz, who has likewise volunteered himself to the athletic department and has generously made himself available to the school on many occasions when emergencies demanded immediate medical attention.

Mindful that complete development of the nature of man requires acknowledgement of his physical needs, the curriculum at Holy Cross provides for this aspect of man's growth through the program provided by the Physical Education Department. It is required of all Freshmen and Sophomores that they attend gym periods which are aimed at teaching the growing youngster some of the basic requirements of safety and health, and providing him with facilities for supervised physical exercise, directly intended to develop coordination and physical skills that tend toward a healthy, active life. Besides the scheduled gym periods, a comprehensive intramural program, involving over four hundred students, is sponsored by the department. The gym periods are directed by Mr. Connors, Mr. Foge and Mr. Kelleher, assisted this year by a group of Senior instructors who help introduce Freshmen to the correct procedures involved in basketball, baseball and calisthenics. Spring affords the gym groups the opportunity of plenty of outdoor exercise with periods of softball, handball and track activities; and in the Fall, the lusty, noisy vigor of football.

HOLY CROSS 0 — MT. ST. MICHAEL 14

The Knights were shut out in their '59 debut 14-0 by a surprisingly mobile Mt. St. Michael team. Led by back Art Bausch and guard Doug DeMatteo the Mounties outcharged and out-maneuvered the Holy Cross "11." Although there wasn't much for the 5,000 fans who jammed into Memorial Field to cheer about, the Knights did have their moments. Joe Savitscus made one of the best runs of the afternoon when he swept around the left end in the first period. Carmen Flamino, stymied most of the game by the defense, bulled his way through for twelve yards on another good run. A bullet pass from Marty Feely to Bill Ricca was good for another Holy Cross first down.

The toll of graduation was heavily felt as inexperience in crucial moments hurt us considerably. There were only four '58 letter winners on the line for the Green and Gold. Among the juniors who stood out in this, their first varsity game, were Bob Villhauer, Roger Consolla, and Ed Petranek. Bench warmers in '58 Ray DiScala and Bob Hoart excelled in this game. Joe Moss, a transfer student from California, was also a standout among the new faces as he played defensive tackle and did all the punting.

Team work is Holy Cross' motto as the entire Knight defense converges on Art Bauch in the Mount game.

HOLY CROSS 6 — STEPINAC 12

The Knights were on the verge of an upset when with four minutes remaining in the game, Stepinac unleashed Bob Verdisco. He went over from the two yard line which knotted it 6-6, and minutes later caught a pass to the touchdown that clinched the victory, 12-6. Up until that point the Knights had outplayed the Crusaders, but those four minutes were long enough to turn the tide the other way. The Knights jumped out to an early lead in the first quarter when Tom Carley caught a touchdown pass from Marty Feely. For three quarters this touchdown was enough as the line turned in sparkling defense. Pat Keneally was outstanding blocking a punt which set up the touchdown. Ricca was named lineman of the week by the coaches of the league because Stepinac "couldn't turn his end." The center of the line held up well with Roger Hayes making his presence felt. Mr. Stetter's charges proved in this game they are one of the toughest lines to crack.

HOLY CROSS 15 — HAYES 6

Victory, long overdue, was finally theirs as the Knights topped Cardinal Hayes 15 to 6 at Randall's Island. It was the Knights' ball game all the way. Dominating the play, the Knights held the Cardinals to two first downs. With everything going so well, the coaches were able to substitute liberally in the second half. The Green and Gold spotted Hayes 6 points on a 37 yard pass from Frank Orlando to Mike Fletcher. The first Holy Cross touchdown was scored by Marty Feely, who circled the end for 26 yards. Carmen Flamino bulled his way through the middle to add two extra points. The second Holy Cross touchdown was set up by smart defensive work. When Pat Keneally blocked a punt in the second quarter, Richie Bosticco fell on the loose ball in the end zone for the six-pointer. Leon Kane added the extra point on a placement. Bosticco, who also intercepted a pass, Roger Hayes, and Kane led the defensive unit which stopped the Cardinals cold. It was fitting that the Knights' first win of the campaign should be a team effort.

HOLY CROSS 6 — ST. FRANCIS 20

In this game, the Knights beat the Terriers at their own game, a passing offense, and still came up on the short end of the score 20-6. It was the Knights best game of the season and St. Francis' coach, Vinnie O'Connor, was quoted as saying, "their defensive line was tremendous. We had to play their game and wait for the breaks." As so often happened this year, the Knights were overhauled and beaten in the latter part of the game. Bill Ricca was playing for keeps in the game as he not only scored the H.C. touchdown but also was a defensive standout, blocking two punts. In the second quarter Ricca took a pass from Marty Feely and scampered into the end zone. Once the H.C. "11" got as close as the seven yard line and another time they reached the ten, but both times the Terriers dug in and held them. The defense was great on the whole, but special credit goes to the boys who were out on defense protecting against Dan Henning's passes. Gene Sweeney and Joe Savitscus did a fine job blocking passes. The Knights showed that they could work an effective pass offense. Feely hit his target five out of seven times, and Joe Savitscus hit Tom Carley on three successive jump passes.

HOLY CROSS 14 — IONA PREP 8

Doing the things they do best—passing on offense and digging in on defense —the H.C. "11" came from behind to win their second league game 14-8. The Gaels took an 8-0 lead in the first quarter when Jim Garrison scored a touchdown on an eighty-yard run and then added two bonus points. The Knights wasted no time getting back into the ball game for they scored on the very next play from scrimmage. Marty Feely hit Tom Carley on a pass play that was good for eighty-three yards and a touchdown. Feely added the extra points on an aerial from Joe Savitscus. With less than four minutes remaining in the game, Bob Villhauer hit pay dirt on a four-yard slant to break the tie. Constantly being rushed by the H.C. line, the Iona passer frequently had to throw hurriedly or else eat the ball. This resulted in many incompletions and three interceptions. Feely, Villhauer, and Savitscus each grabbed an Iona pass that went astray. Ray DiScala and Roger Hayes led the defensive charge that caused havoc in the Iona backfield. Lineman Leon Kane and Ed Petranek and Linebackers Pat Keneally and Richie Bosticco played important roles in stopping Iona's single wing.

HOLY CROSS 34 — FORDHAM PREP 14

There are days when everyone looks good and this was one of them as Holy Cross clobbered the Ramlets, 34-14. In the first quarter Marty Feely registered the first of his three touchdowns on a twelve yard sprint. Marty scored again on a 36 yard reverse play which caught the Fordham defense going the wrong way. Joe Savitscus completed a 24 yard pass to Bob Villhauer for the Knights third T.D. Leon Kane's three placements gave the H.C. gridmen a 21-0 lead at the half. Held to short gains most of the season, Carmen Flamino exploded all over the place. He had runs of 23 and 21 yards, a kickoff return of 57 yards, and finally in the third quarter, a touchdown on a 12 yard run through the middle. The Holy Cross score was set up by a 24 yard pass from Feely to Frank Wright. With the ball on the Fordham 49 yard line, Feely took a pass from

HOLY CROSS 7 — CHAMINADE 28

The Knights' big homecoming was spoiled when the Flyers topped them 28-7. Chaminade, led by Ralph Brandewiede, who hit his receivers for three touchdowns and Mike McDonough, who added another 10 points himself opened up a lead in the first three quarters that the Knights could not overcome. Greg Shorten (34 yards), Pete Riordan (22 yards) and Frank Fee (43 yards) were on the receiving end of Brandewiede's passes. The small but fast Chaminade line stopped the Holy Cross running attack cold. The Knights were most effective through the air averting a shutout by scoring on an aerial in the final minutes of the ball game. Sal Armenio completed three passes in three attempts, Feely hit his receiver twice in four attempts, and Joe Savitscus threw one completion in three passes. Joe Savitscus caught a 25 yard pass from Feely on the goal line and stepped into the end zone for the touchdown. Leon Kane added the extra point on a placement. The defense, which was so fine all year long, was weakest in this, the most decisive margin of defeat all year long.

HOLY CROSS 14 — FLUSHING 6

In the annual Thanksgiving Day Classic that decides the Queens Scholastic Football Champions, the Charging Knights upset the favored Flushing Red Devils, 14-6. In taking the mythical title, the Holy Cross "11" outplayed the P.S.A.L. Division II champs in every department. Things looked pretty bad when Flushing took the opening kickoff and proceeded to march downfield for a touchdown. But after that first drive, the defensive line kept Flushing bottled up. Keeping the speedy Red Devil backfield in check was a difficult assignment, but the line was capable of doing it. Next year's newly elected Co-Captain Frank Wright played a solid game as linebacker. Outstanding and immovable on the line were Roger Hayes, Bill Ricca, and Ray DiScala. Ed Keane, and Bob Hoart were valuable assets as defensive end and guard respectively. Flushing was credited with being one of the best defensive clubs in the P.S.A.L. allowing only thirty-six points in six games and shutting out four opponents. The job done by the offensive line in opening gaping holes in that indestructible wall was superb. Noteworthy performances were turned in by Pat Keneally and Richie Bosticco, who platooned the work at center. Guards Ed Petranek and Roger Consolla, along with tackle

A MEDIOCRE SEASON ENDS ON A HAPPY NOTE OF SUCCESS AS THE UNDERDOG KNIGHTS DEFEAT FLUSHING FOR NORTH SHORE CHAMPIONSHIP

Pride is written all over the faces of Brother Jogues, Mr. Stetter, and Mr. Begley as they are presented the Star-Journal Trophy by Al Spitzer, the paper's representative.

"Hey, fellas, wait for me!" Feely lurches past Flushing's defense as he catches up to the team.

Leon Kane were important factors in the victory. The first Holy Cross TD climaxed a sustained drive which started on their own thirty-four yard line. Carmen Flamino scored the touchdown on a two yard plunge. An intercepted pass in the fourth period by Joe Savitscus started another touchdown drive. It took the Knights only eight plays to cover the forty-one yards from the point of interception to the end zone and victory. Marty Feely hit pay dirt on a five yard end around play. Co-Captain elect Bob Villhauer took a hand-off and sliced through the middle of the line for a bonus pair. Carmen Flamino, who saved his best performance for his last at Holy Cross, received the "William Ellard Memorial Trophy" as the game's most valuable player. Carmen was the workhorse of the backfield and helped set up both touchdowns. With the victory came the "Long Island Star-Journal Trophy" emblematic of Queens' football supremacy. A win next year by Holy Cross would retire the trophy. The Knights have captured two of the three legs necessary for permanent retention of the trophy. For fifteen members of the class of '60, this Thanksgiving Day game was the final football game at Holy Cross.

Carmen Flamino gives a big smile after being presented with the "William Ellard Trophy" for most valuable player in the Turkey-Day game.

BEHIND-THE-SCENES SUPPORT

An endless amount of planning and preparation lie behind the successful operation of every activity. This is certainly evident in the field of athletics, especially when large groups of participants are involved, as they are in football.

The various athletic directors see to the planning, but it is the job of the student athletic managers to complete the variety of preparations necessary to clothe and equip the three football squads when they report both for practice and for games. They are the first to arrive at the locker rooms—and the last to leave. Thanks, men.

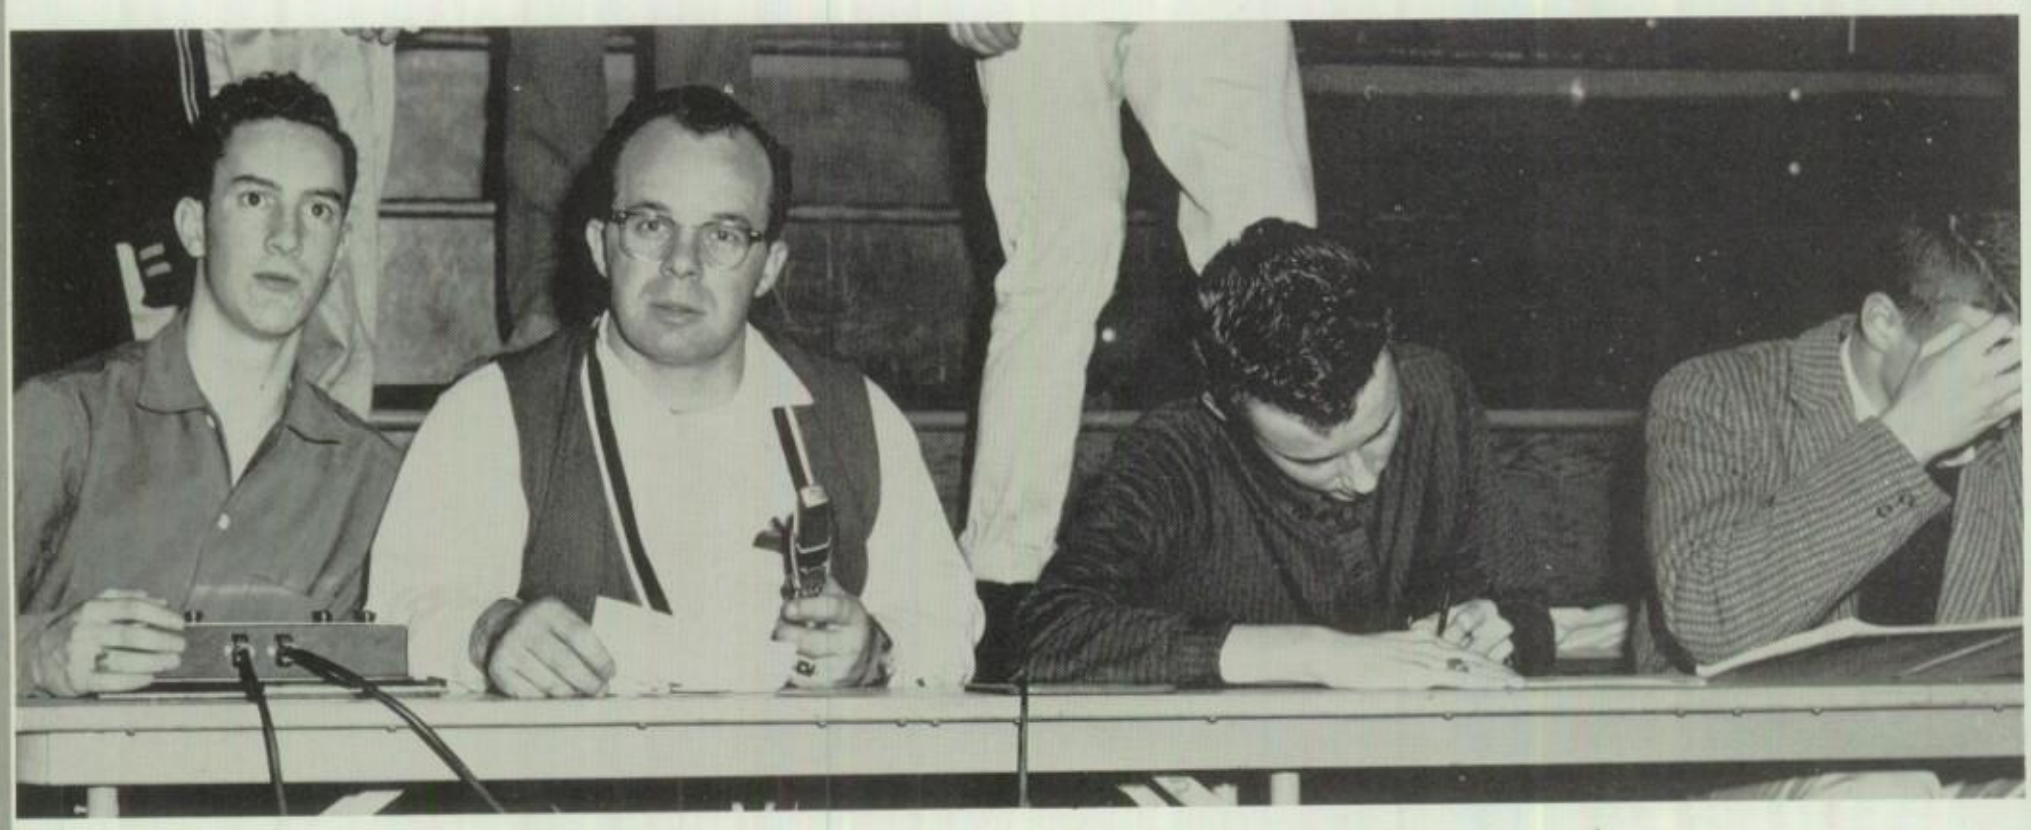
THE FINEST SEASON FOR THE CROSS

Basketball was at its best this year at Holy Cross with the varsity, jayvee and freshmen compiling an amazing .765 won-lost percentage. The varsity compiled a 14-4 record, and not to be outdone, the jayvee won 11 and lost 3, and the freshmen had a 14-5 season.

On the varsity level it was the best team that ever wore the Holy Cross uniform. They were effective because Mr. Connors had them well drilled in the fundamentals of the game. The way Cucinello and Savitscus worked the give and go, the way Edgar and McGowan would set up McIntyre for his jump shot, the way Gavigan and Feely got position under the boards for rebounds; these are all fundamental aspects of basketball, but the way they executed them was responsible for many wins.

The Knights were not tremendous scorers for they only averaged 54 points a game, but they were terrific hustlers on defense, allowing only 46 points a game. With this hustling nature they also had a desire to win. In all it was one heck of a season for the Green and Gold.

Despite frequent rough-handling, Sophomore Bob McIntyre offered the major contribution to the team's successful season.



A bench full of pretty important people as far as the background of the season was concerned

A Holy Cross game wouldn't have been complete without the presence of Father McGuiness and Brother James Roth.

HOLY CROSS 34—FLUSHING 28

Holy Cross started the basketball season off just as it had wound up the football season with a victory over Flushing. The Red Devils matched Holy Cross point for point in every quarter of this low scoring game, but the third when they were outscored 8-2. Marty Feely was high man for the Holy Cross combine with 10 points, while Bob McIntyre's 17 rebounds controlled the backboards for the Knights. The Knights hit only 11 field goals and missed 13 foul shots in a bad case of first game jitters.

HOLY CROSS 72 — FLUSHING 50

The Knights did not have any jitters in their return engagement with Flushing and breezed to a 72-50 victory. Included in these 72 points were 31 by Bob McIntyre which established a new school record. His 11 field goals and 9 free throws bettered the old mark of 27 held by Jimmy Raftery by four points. Ed Flood tossed in 11 points and Cuccinello added 10 in the winning effort. The Holy Cross defense did a fine job in stopping the Red Devil's Howie Gulker, the Queens II PSAL scoring champ. The big center scored only one point in the entire game.

HOLY CROSS 52 — REGIS 43

Hustling all the way, the Knights were undaunted by an early Regis lead and fought back to win going away 52-43. The margin might have been greater than nine points had the team been better from the foul line. They missed 16 free throws hitting 18 for 34. It was a close game for three quarters but in the final stanza Bill Gavigan scored 10 of his 11 points and John McGowan scored 7 of his 12 point total to ice the game. Fred Cuccinello was the third man in double figures with 10.

HOLY CROSS 46 — REGIS 45

Regis came close to ending the Holy Cross winning streak at 7 games, but when the final buzzer sounded their late rally had fallen one point short. Holy Cross got out in front early and assumed a lead that varied between 3 and 6 points most of the way. In the final minute of play it was John McGowan who made two free throws to supply the game's clinching points. Playing an excellent game, Bob McIntyre was the Big Green's most prolific scorer and also their best man under the boards. He scored 20 points and teamed up with Marty Feely to control the boards.

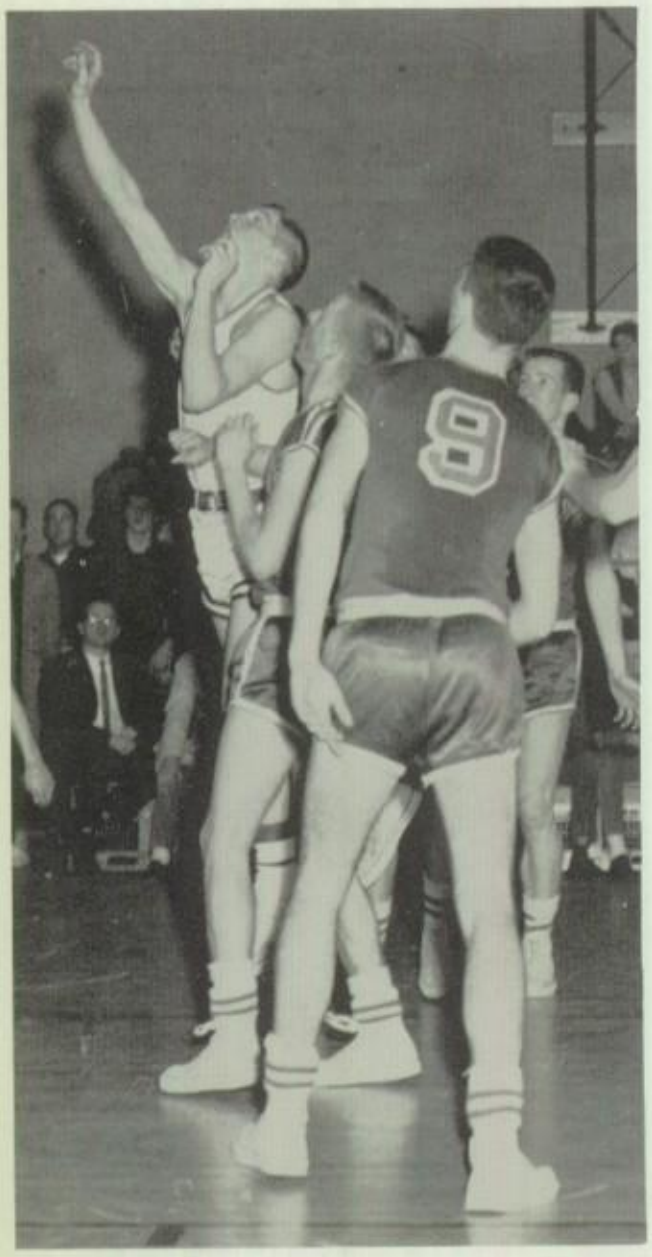
STEPINAC 61 — HOLY CROSS 53

Blowing a five point half time lead, the Green and Gold dropped its first game of the '59-'60 season by a score of 61-53 to Stepinac. With four players in double figures including Sal Mastropolo's game high of 18 points, the Crusaders just couldn't be caught once they had assumed the lead. Bob McIntyre led the Holy Cross cagers with 16 points on 7 buckets and 2 free throws. John McGowan's 12 and Bill Gavigan's 10 helped keep the Knights in the thick of things for three quarters.

STEPINAC 52 — HOLY CROSS 50

Stepinac, the New York CHSAA City Champions, came from behind to erase a four point half time lead in downing Holy Cross 52-50. The big men on the squad had their finest day leading the scoring and grabbing a good percent of the rebounds. McIntyre scored 19 points on jump shots from the corner and driving layups. Doug Edgar's 18 points came on a wide variety including taps, hook shots, and jumpers. The rebounding was the best it had been with Ed Flood very strong under the defensive boards.

SUPERB TEAMWORK AND PERSISTENT



ST. MARY'S 58 — HOLY CROSS 50

St. Mary's broke a close game open in the third quarter to record a 58-50 decision over the Knights. The driving layups of Jess Shea and the outside shooting of Charles Martin sparked the St. Mary's rally. Shea scored 17 and Martin added 15 points. For Holy Cross, Marty Feely was high man with 18 points. Bill Gavigan the most effective rebounder and also contributed 8 points. Weakness from the foul line did not help close the gap. Holy Cross was 10 for 25 at the foul line.

HOLY CROSS 45 — ST. MARY'S 39

Possession is nine-tenths of the law and it is also a good way to get 7 points in a basketball game. The Knights had the game won if they could hold their slim two point lead in the final stanza. With four minutes remaining McGowan and Cuccinello started to freeze the ball. St. Mary's went after it and fouled the game away. The difference was registered on the foul line where Holy Cross sunk 13 and St. Mary's dropped in 6 free throws. In the final minutes McGowan hit five free throws and Cuccinello hit two to put the game out of reach.

HOLY CROSS 71 — MOUNT ST. MICHAEL 54

With everyone playing "top-flite" ball, the Knights ran the Mounties ragged as they surprised with a 71-54 victory on the losers' court. The Holy Cross hoopsters were sparked by the scoring and ball handling of Fred Cuccinello. Fred had 19 points on 6 baskets and 7 free throws. Feely and McIntyre with 14 and 11 points respectively played important roles in the victory. Jim Dooley, a fine outside shooter, was high for the Mount with 18 points.

H. C. VARSITY 72 — ALUMNI 64

A game that should become a tradition around these "ivied-walls" was won by the present charges of Mr. Connors. The varsity trounced the Alumni 72-64. Leading the Holy Cross barage was Bob McIntyre with 17 points and Marty Feely with 14. McGowan's 13 and Cuccinello's 11 put the game out of reach. For the "old-timers" the leading scorer was Tony Armenio now of Fordham with 16 points. Rounding out the top five were Bob Arnone, St. John's; Jim Raftery, St. Francis of Brooklyn; Mike Baker and Charlie Carnesi, Iona.

BAYSIDE 50 — HOLY CROSS 47

Don't pay any attention to the record in a rivalry is an old saying and it held true as Bayside upset the Knights 50-47. In the tense final minutes some rebounding strength and accuracy from the foul line held Holy Cross off. Charley George hit 7 for 7 from the free throw line in registering 15 points which was the high for the Commodores. The offensive standouts were Cuccinello with 13 points and Feely and Savitscus each with 11.

HOLY CROSS 64 — BAYSIDE 40

Avenging one of the four loses on their slate, Holy Cross showed little mercy in drubbing arch-rival Bayside 64-40. The Knights were slow starting, but when they finally got rolling in the second quarter, Bayside was left in the dust. The game was a fitting climax to the season so everyone had a hand in the win. Bob McIntyre scored 13 points to lead all Holy Cross scorers, while close behind with 12 and 11 points respectively were Marty Feely and John McGowan. The game's high total of 17 points was recorded by the Commodores' Charley George.

DRIVE PAID OFF AS THE SCORES INDICATE

HOLY CROSS 56 — FORDHAM PREP 48

Cool heads and sharp shooting gave the Knights a 56-48 victory over the Fordham Prep Ramlets. The victory snapped a two game losing streak and started the Knights on a 10 game winning streak. The backcourt men, Savitscus, McGowan, and Cuccinello, did a fine job of controlling the ball against the full court press used by Fordham. Inside shooting by Gavigan who had 13 and jump shooting by McIntyre who had 12 were keys in the Holy Cross victory.

HOLY CROSS 42 — FORDHAM PREP 40

In a real squeaker on the University Court at Fordham, the Knights, paced by Fred Cuccinello's scoring and Bob McIntyre's defensive play, edged the Ramlets 42-40. It was the first victory for a Holy Cross aggregation on Fordham's court in all three years of their varsity competition. Cuccinello was the most effective scorer for the Knights as he threw in 15 points. With the Knights aggressive zone defense, the Ramlets were not able to feed their big gun, Bob Suchy, who averaged over twenty points a game, and thus suffered the setback. It was a hard-earned victory and one of their best of the season.

HOLY CROSS 62 — IONA PREP 40

The Green and Gold made it three in a row as they whipped Iona Prep 62-40. It was the first game in which all ten members of the varsity entered the scoring column. John McGowan and Fred Cuccinello with 12 points each shared top honors for the Knights. The Knights started slowly scoring only 22 points in the first half, but ripped the defense wide open in the second half scoring 20 points in both the third and fourth quarters. The Gaels could not cope with the overall height advantage Holy Cross had.

HOLY CROSS 51 — IONA 39

The Gaels got their second crack at Holy Cross and again wound up on the short end of the score. This time it was by a 51-39 score. It was never a close contest with the Knights opening up as much as a fifteen point lead in the third quarter. Bob McIntyre set the pace for the Knights with fourteen points while Ken Wagner was tops for Iona with nineteen points. Doug Edgar scored eleven points for the winning cause. The defense was as strong as ever as it held Iona's top gun, Gaudet, to ten points with only one in the second half. Only Wagner was able to solve the tricky Holy Cross defense.

HOLY CROSS 53 — VINCENTIAN 51

Hampered by the confines of a small court, the Charging Knights had to fight right down to the final minutes to beat Vincentian of Albany 53-51. In the final minutes Savitscus scored 3 points and Cuccinello 1 to insure the victory. Bob McIntyre with 8 field goals and 4 foul shots became the first Holy Cross player to hit 20 points this season. Joe Savitscus netted 19 points on 6 buckets and 7 free throws. Kevin Carmody collected 28 points for the up-staters.

HOLY CROSS 68 — McCLANCY 46

Ten up at the halfway point, the Knights hit forty percent of their floor shots and sixty-five percent of their foul shots in the second half to bury McClancy 68-46. McClancy which had been averaging close to 60 points a game was really stalled by the Holy Cross defense. Marty Feely played his best game of the season scoring 22 points and rebounding strongly. Feely hit eight of 17 shots from the floor for a forty-seven percent shooting average. Bob McIntyre's shooting was really sharp as he hit 11 of 12 free throws on his way to 17 points. John McGowan contributed 13 points to the Holy Cross cause, while Dick Alexander scored 13 for the Crusaders.

WE HAD EVERYTHING THIS YEAR

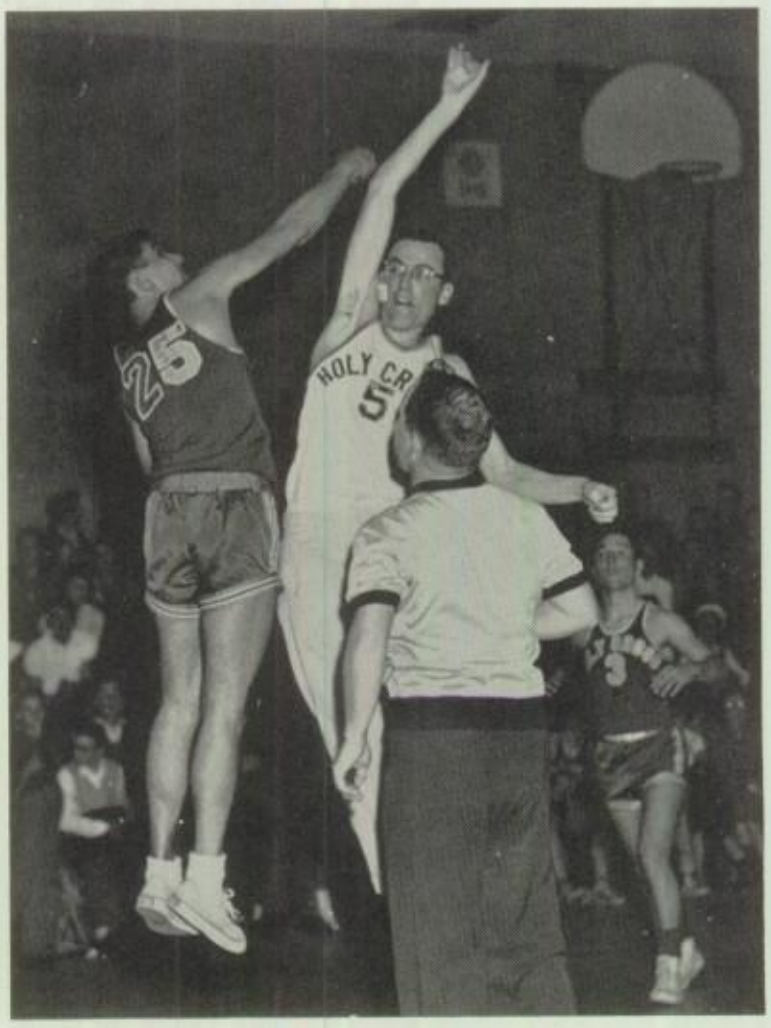
What had seemed like a colorful season flashed to a blazing climax in style that few had anticipated. The final contest of the year was a doub header . . . the TITANIC STRUGGLE. It featured an evening of fun a thrills beginning with a contest in which members of the Holy Cross Vars played one-another, Juniors against Seniors. The Senior members triumph

The real drawing card of the evening, however, was the much publiciz battle between the Intramural All-Stars and the Faculty, the TITAN STRUGGLE. And that it was, right up until the final buzzer, when the A Stars finally emerged victorious over a tired but spirited Faculty.

Holy Cross spirit was everywhere in evidence. The crowd was mainly co posed of family groups, and was one of the largest on record all season. was also one of the liveliest—apparently strongly for or against the und dog Faculty. Their roaring and applauding seldom ceased from the mome the cafeteria ladies charged onto the floor waving their green derbies a sporting their huge banner proclaiming themselves faculty cheerleaders.

One of the final moments in the Junior-Senior game.

Up goes Coach Don Smith again.



Brother Walter can get up there too.

Up goes Mr. Smith, as Brother Josaphat waits his turn.

Another feature of this year's season was th numerous record hops held after some hom games.

Winners in the Holy Cross Invitationa Grammar School Tournament were these hard playing boys from St. Thomas of West Hemp stead.

TRACKMEN WIN INDIVIDUAL AND TEAM HONORS
SET NEW FOUR MILE RELAY RECORD

High School track is one of the most under-rated and poorly attended of all high school sports. This does not mean that the athletes entered in the various track and field events are not worthy of support or recognition. Quite the contrary. These athletes work just as hard training and conditioning the body for the spring events as the other athletes do for football and basketball.

Just as in the other sports, all track and field men have a set routine which they must follow. In the spring it isn't so bad, but when practice begins in March with the water and ice (and this year the snow) still covering the track, many a sweat suit has been worn threadbare from washing.

It is a thankless job for the men running, but a rewarding one. There is no pretty lass eager to wipe a sweaty brow after one of them has run the mile in under four minutes. The only reward they get is the satisfaction of having harnessed the energy of their bodies for a useful purpose, and having successfully achieved that purpose.

Since track lacks the pomp and pageantry of football or basketball, potential fans shy away from it. This seems to have been the case at Holy Cross. But with the brand new track team winning honors for themselves, support will undoubtedly be increased so that this year's squad will receive a greater following—one whose support they are worthy of.

After winning the mile in the city-wide Mayor's Meet, John Lucas poses with his trophy, as a smiling and satisfied coach, Brother Walter Foley, stands by.

CROSS COUNTRY MEETS

With the successful culmination of the first year of cross country competition, the Knights can boast a total of nineteen medals won. Termed upstarts by the press, the Charging Knights surprised many with the fine running of Marty Ferko, John Lucas, Charlie Walsh, John Douglas.

A season high of 169 points and seven medals was earned by the Knights in a third place finish at the St. John's University Invitational Meet. John Lucas finishing in seventh place, paced the Holy Cross runners. He covered the course in the time of 13:59. Marty Ferko finished three seconds later in tenth place. Charlie Walsh was the third Knight to finish.

The Knights finished third again in the Brooklyn-Queens C.H.S.A.A. Meet earning 124 points. John Lucas completed the 2.4 mile course in 13:52 for the gold medal. Charlie Walsh with a time of 14:23 was the next to cross the finish line for H.C. Marty Ferko, reaching the finish line in 14:26, earned himself a twelfth place finish.

Dual meets have been the meat for the Holy Cross X-country runners. They have beaten Port Washington and St. Mary's.

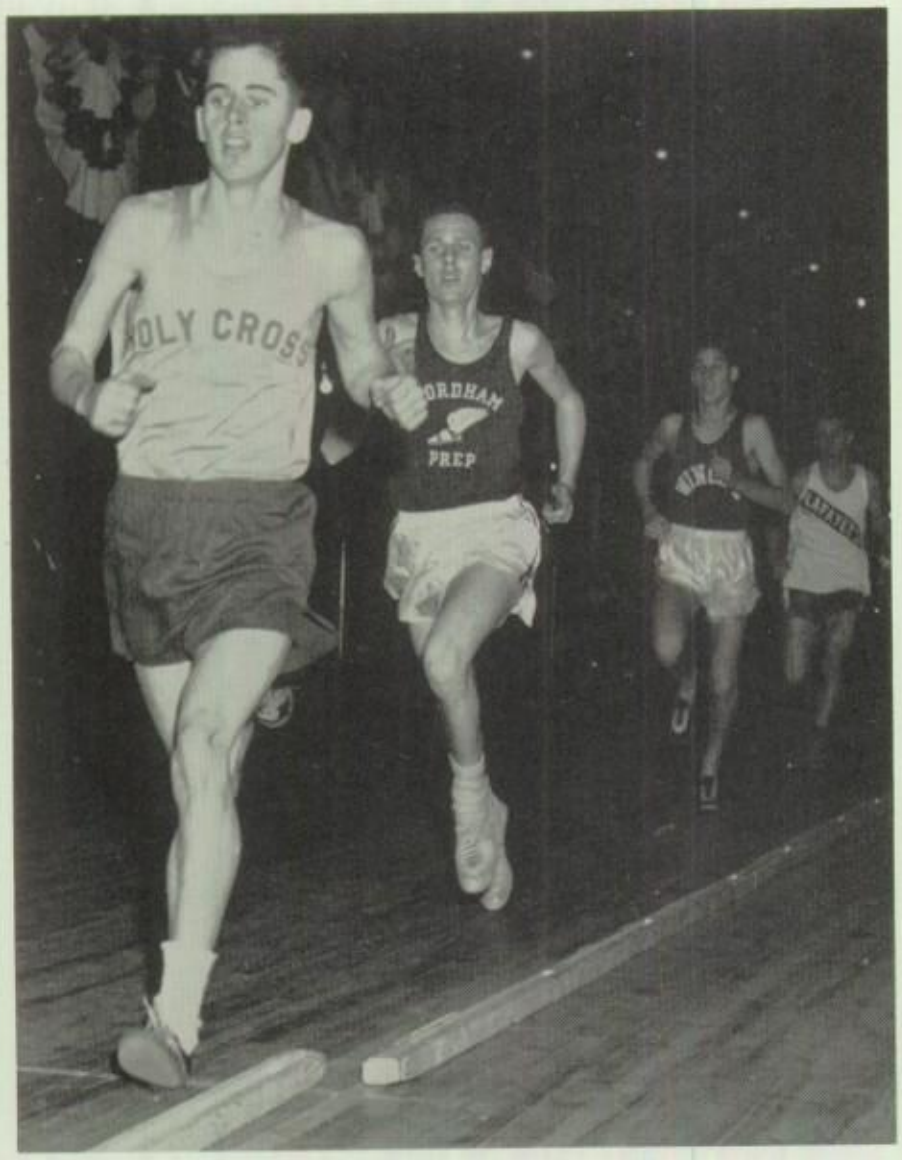
FOUR MILE RELAY BREAKS RECORD . . . LUCAS IS CITY'S FASTEST MILER.

Picked by the press to upset other schools but not to win very many honors, the Knights surged ahead to capture the Archbishop Molloy Invitational Four Mile Relay. It was the greatest triumph of the season for the Knights as they covered the distance in 18:59.9. The Holy Cross entry of John Douglas, Marty Ferko, John Lucas and Charlie Walsh annexed the record set by Holy Trinity.

Individual honors for this season go to John Lucas. He has captured medals at almost every meet entered. His time of 4:26.8 to gain second place at the St. Francis Prep Games proves that he is the top high school miler in New York City. Enthusiastic Holy Cross fans of the cinder path await the spring in order to see him open up where there is more space to roam. Ken Ferger has also contributed heavily to the indoor track cause, latching on to more points than any member of the squad except for John Lucas.



Lucas cuts loose after the first lap and takes the lead which he kept to the end.

HIGH HOPES FOR THE SPRING SEASON

At the time the CROSS went to press tryouts for the track team were on the verge of being started. This will be primarily a rebuilding year for the Knights of the cinder path. With graduation of last year's quartet, Brother Walter will have to condition the distance medley or two mile relay for the Penn Relays. He will not find that hard for John Douglas, Marty Ferko, Richard Fennelly, John Lucas and Charlie Walsh have proved their capabilities during the winter.

The Knights hope to repeat the crushing defeat handed Elmont H.S. last year as they begin to prepare for this initial meet. It is also hoped that the Knights will continue to dominate dual meets. The Knights will continue to be a strong distance threat to everyone as they have done in the past.

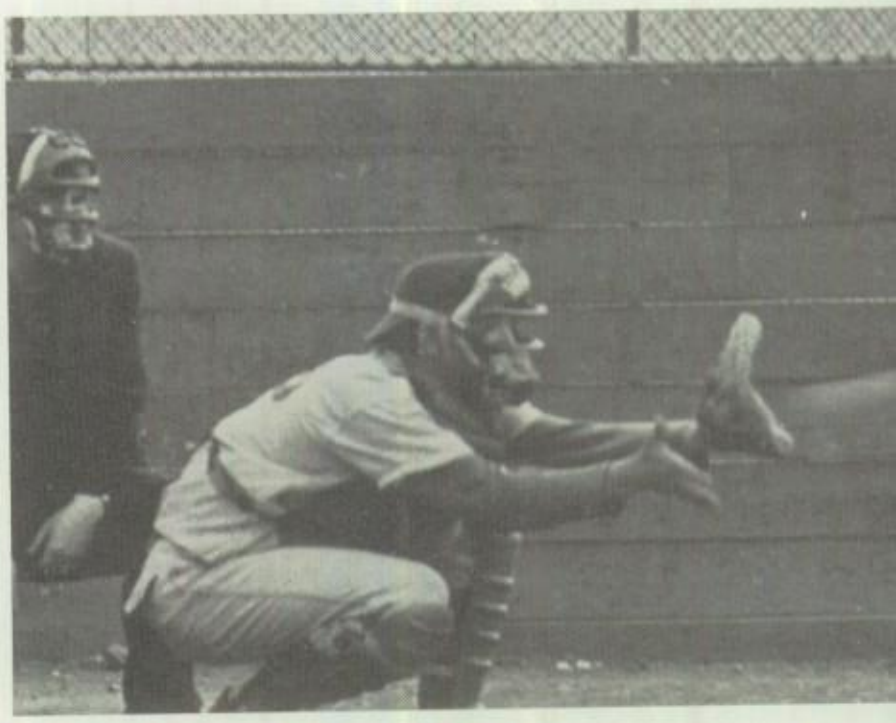
HOPES HIGHER FOR THE '60 BASEBALL CLUB

A snowy spring brought with it the first hopefuls trying out in the H.C. gym for the 1960 baseball season. As the CROSS goes to press on the 22nd of March, a snug blanket of snow covers the ground, and it is still heavily falling. Not a very good day for sitting down to make predictions about the opening season. The coverage of last year's games was weak, photographically—photographers are generally reluctant to trudge along on hot spring afternoons to take pictures for a book that will appear more than a year away. And it seems that no one was very interested in keeping last year's score-book, since it registered only a single win.

Coach Connors has high hopes for the future, with a strong contingent of returning veterans. Amoruso, Armenio, Cuccinello, Greco, Russo, Hartwell, Stoessel and Bosticco should more than ably replace last year's graduates, and a squad of Junior and Sophomore hopefuls is at work determined to better last year's record by a grand margin.



Ripper Russo takes a cut, against the St. Francis Prep Terriers.

BAR BELL BOYS BUILD BULGING BODIES

The Physical Training Club, begun toward the close of last year, is designed to train and develop the muscles and muscle co-ordination of the body. Since the school's physical training program does not include gym for Juniors and Seniors, this activity provides much-needed activity for these individuals.

With its intense program of training, the club offers an excellent opportunity for correct physical development and over-all physical well-being. It is not, as moderator Brother Robert Pluta stresses, to determine the strongest boy in the school.

Club members devote three afternoons a week to supervised activity in the school gym.

THIS SEASON SAW THE LARGEST INTRAMURAL PARTICIPATION IN HOLY CROSS HISTORY

Momentarily distracted by the photographer, George Patten receives his Intramural Basketball award from Dominic Romeo. George was on the winning Senior team.

Another feature of the evening of the TITANIC STRUGGLE was the half-time awarding of trophies to the members of the winning teams in the Intramural Basketball League. Trophies were awarded by the three men primarily responsible for the successful functioning of the league—Brother Geoffrey, Student Government Moderator, Pat Keneally, Student Government President, and Dom Romeo, League Chairman. More than three hundred Cross men availed themselves of the opportunity to participate in this activity.

Yet another sign of the rapid growth of intramural sports at the Cross was the Intramural Bowling League. The three leagues: Freshman-Sophomore, Junior and Senior were comprised of well over two hundred students, who bowled weekly at nearby Victory Lanes. Almost every section in the school was represented by at least one team, some sections by more than one.

The league has grown to its present size under the guidance of Brother James Roth, who was ably assisted in its direction by three league secretaries: Al Bianculli, Seniors; Andy Piotrowicz, Juniors; and Steve Kinary, Freshman-Sophomore.

The size in numbers and length of season has made the intramural program the largest extracurricular activity in the school. Its size is also a certain indication of its popularity.

Student Government President, Pat Keneally, assisted with the Intramural awards.

"WHERE DID THE LAST FOUR YEARS GO?"

Many a graduating senior asks himself that question. The Freshman year gave us memories of free flowing detentions, a tired but not tiring algebra teacher, and to some, a thrilling biology course. Science clubs had their beginning that year. The first musical hit the boards. The Student Council Constitution was drawn up for Holy Cross High. Mister Lipp began his able coaching of the Debating Club, and athletic letters were awarded for the first time. A year of bewilderment gradually subsided into one of definite work and definite play.

The Sophomore year began faster than the ex-freshman had realized. The not yet fully matured football team began varsity ball, and fared quite well. Shop classes began at Holy Cross. Plays, "The American Living Room," and "Mountain Madness," became pleasant memories, and math and pep clubs were formed for the first time. "Keep quiet!" and "Hurry up!" were found to be the most frequently employed idioms in history class. Slowly but surely students became scholars, and loyalty and pride blossomed forth from developing verility. Soon ring orders were taken. The Sophomore was approaching the half-way mark. School work took on a new air of seriousness as the goal of graduation was realized to be only a few years in the future. Already memories were formed; memories of games, clubs, dances, and of schoolwork. The student becomes a functioning part of the school.

Many memorable Junior capers confronted us as "upperclassmen." Operations began in the print shop, and soon all printed matter bore the insignia, "Printed by H.C. Ind. Arts Dept." The first yearbook in school history started to take form. Thornton Wilder's unique play "Our Town" was presented with much success. A trophy was brought home to Holy Cross by our Debating Squad. December was the setting for the Junior Prom which was attended in force by many of our classmates. National Merit tests were administered. The reading program was initiated in order to help students with their College Board examinations.

After much hard work, the musical review, "The Boys from Brooklyn" was put before the student body and as usual, an excellent production evolved. Due to the defeat of Flushing by our varsity, the Long Island Star Journal trophy for North Shore championship was brought home for the first time. Response to the boat ride to Rye Beach packed Knights into the boat. Girls from Saint Agnes helped add to the enjoyment of the excursion. Soon the year was about to close. Our Junior year was nearing an end. The following September would be the beginning of the end; we were about to become Seniors.

The first graduation at Holy Cross was attended by more than four thousand proud parents and relatives who sat in the warm afternoon sun to applaud the four hundred and sixty green clad graduates as they marched up to the green and gold dias to receive their diplomas. Our school now was complete with alumni. In four short years, Holy Cross rose from insignificance to a position of prestige both in scholasticism and athletics.

SENIOR-FACULTY NIGHT SURPASSES ALL EXPECTATIONS

The second annual Senior-Faculty Night provided three hundred seniors and faculty members with a memorable evening.

Main feature of the night proved to be the rib-tickling movie, The Golden Age of Comedy. Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy led the way down a path filled with pie-throwings, car-demolitions, and frantic chases. Introduced by Doug Edgar and Mike Auleta's opposite versions of "The Night Before Christmas," the seniors, themselves, took over next. Two humorous skits spoofing the Australian Tag Team match and a TV dance contest were presented. Lee Kane and Bill Roth provided one wrestling duet and Ray Di Scala and Roger Hayes supplied the opposition. The dance contest ended in an obvious tie among Bill Ricca, Gene Sweeney, and Ed Keane, and the respective "debutantes," Joe Moss, Bill Poppe, and George Paront.

Following the entertainment, everyone repaired to the cafeteria for a session of pizza, tobacco, and songs. Musical entertainment was provided by chairman, Carmen Flamino, and a nine piece senior band. Too bad we're only Seniors once.

. . . and am I a cool

Senior memories, which are foremost in our mind, will be the most remembered. Math can be trying, but it is livened up by occasional quests in search of a misplaced sponge, duck-like noises, and the inevitable disciplinary reactions. When times were low, student spirit was revived by bellowing cries of, "Hey, you . . . do it now" and occasionally a stern, "Get out." Calculus, with its differentiation and integration, implicit and explicit functions and alike, took its toll of ulcers from among the ranks of our science students. In the line of study halls, Section A-4 gained repute by singing Christmas carols and songs during the Yuletide season. This was especially noteworthy because often the proctor's name was substituted for that of jolly Kris Kringle. The never ending war against stealing others' work, commonly called copying homework, was carried out by a teacher of the charging Knights during the zero period. This crusade resulted in a drastic increase in original homework. College Night brought much important data into the light for many of our graduating seniors. This occasion, so thoughtfully arranged by the school's administration, touched subjects such as costs, scholastic programs, sports and extracurricular activities offered by the colleges represented. Graduation became more imminent as the termination of secondary school education seemed to come nearer and nearer with the passage of every day. Presently we would be wearing the cap and gown symbolic of graduation, soon we would receive our diplomas, soon we would say good-bye to our beloved Holy Cross.

Chemistry gives to us memories of a jovial teacher who made the subject so much easier to understand. Experiments in the laboratory, which are intended to bring the closer relationship between the student and his work, often were inclined to get out of hand in cases of rapid combustion or detectable gas. If an answer was uncertain, the question, "Is that right, Gilhooley" would rebound off the walls. Our library was frequently used as a source of information. Reference books, periodicals and circulatory material were prudently taken advantage of by the entire student body. The precisities of Mechanical Drawing always took their toll of obvious errors. With the introduction of auxiliary views, the hidden difficulties of the course began ties of the course began to appear with every suceeding plate. Frequent utterances of the phrase, "There's a plate due today" made nimble fingers previously sluggish fingers. Senior faculty night drew many laughs from the attending seniors. The beatnik version of the "Night Before Christmas," read by Mike Auletta, caused many a chuckle and guffaw. A satire on wrestling, and music provided for by an all senior band also made the evening a success. The movie "The Golden Age of Comedy" began the evening, and refreshments in the Cafe topped it off. "The Reluctant Romeo," a comedy which was written by our own Brother Geoffrey, drew record crowds. Unfaltering drama again appeared at Holy Cross as our boys teamed up with girls of neighboring schools to produce an excellent show.

After only two years of full scale varsity competition to their credit, our football team ended a fair season with a trouncing victory over Flushing. However, this was accomplished after a morale-boosting pep assembly motivated Cross rooters to turn out a good percentage of the seven-thousand present at the game. Our track squad, under the guiding eye of Brother Walter Foley, also had a good season. The most valuable runner was John Lucas who won many medals and awards for the alma mater.

Religion classes are the center of academic life in the school; nevertheless, to a certain fourth period senior, serious Apologetics gave way to sleep. To that sort of sleeping student, goes the reward of a failure; to the worker, goes a passing grade. In English classes, students found themselves involved with discussion, modern art, book reports and Shakespeare. Ever so often a trying class drew the saying, "I've had it, gents." When this happened, the fun in English came to an abrupt halt, and the course became pure work.

Four years at the Cross formed our character. It gave us school spirit and a devotion to our God. Memories of untold wealth were formed. Knights, you're taking a great deal more than an inscribed paper when you leave this school; likewise, you also leave something behind. A bond has been created . . . a bond of love and affection for Holy Cross.

LAST YEAR'S GRADUATES ENJOY THEIR FIRST FLING AS ALUMNI AT THE ALUMNI CHRISTMAS DANCE

Last year's Seniors had the dubious honor of being "pioneers" throughout their four years at Holy Cross. Their distinction did not end with their graduation—they then became "pioneer" Alumni.

Through the efforts of Brother Geoffrey, Alumni Moderator, the first annual Alumni Dance was arranged to be held during the Christmas vacation. It followed the Junior Prom and gave the 180 Alumni couples an opportunity to enjoy the prom decorations.

Looks like a happy reunion, as Brother Joseph Andrews accepts a ticket to the Alumni Dance from last year's class president Andy Sullivan and his smiling date.

You can bet the tall stories were swapped at this table when old friends Gerald Cassidy and Mike Kelly got together for an evening at the old "alma mater."

Snowflakes couldn't keep these party-goers from missing the fun. Bill Black and Kenneth Maher escort their attractive companions out of what proved to be the heaviest snowfall of the winter.

JUNIORS . . . NEW TO THE WORLD OF UPPERCLASSMEN

JUNIOR OFFICERS
Edward Burke, Secretary; Richard Bruno, Vice-President;
Austin Byrnes, President; James Makos, Treasurer.

In the hands of a Junior, the world's on a string. It's full of songs for singing, music for dancing, parties to be crashed and games to be cheered at. It's a fabulous world, but it falls apart every morning when their feet hit the cold floor.

The cold reality of it all is, that it's a time for facing up to physics, higher math, a deeper understanding of history and literature, language and life. This is the time when the maturing Junior suspects the truth that true answers are hard to come by.

The Junior year was a time for stepping into the broader world of upperclassmen. College boards were closer than most cared to admit. It was a time when many brushed up against success on the gridiron, the basketball court, the track and the dusty diamond. A time for appreciating the applause that poured across the footlights to envelop more than one Reluctant Romeo.

For many of them, remembering would center around their first Prom, a bright star in the cold month of December, and the brightest spot in the Junior year.

WHITE CHRISTMAS

JUNIOR PROM

A NIGHT OF

Orchestra leader Mal Galletta's vocalizing seems to be pleasing Gene Boertlein as he twirls his date past the bandstand on cloud nine.

Tom Lawless and Miss Alex Ricci take a few moments from dancing to enjoy the Christmas atmosphere in the cafeteria.

The men of '61 realized their social peak at the White Christmas Junior Prom on December 28, 1959. They and their dates first entered a foyer with green draped walls brightened by scattered sunbursts of gold. In the gym, snowflakes showered down from the circling mirror-ball onto walls panelled in red and white. Certainly the nine foot blinking white star, the giant, lighted Christmas tree card, and the twelve foot modernistic star of simulated white gardenias were wonderful wall conversation pieces. Mal Galetta's ten piece professional orchestra, banked by silver trees heightened the festive atmosphere.

Throughout the evening refreshments were served by white jacketed waiters in the cafeteria. Here the soft glow of lamps, the flicker of table candles, the wine-colored spray from the three-tiered fountain assured the Juniors that formal socializing was an experience worth remembering.

The lounge outside the cafe was the perfect place for informal exchange of greetings and conversation. Leather chairs and couches in reds, browns, and greens were casually arranged to provide a momentary place-away from dancing. Art students' paintings on the wall gave a further richness and warmth to the lounge.

Junior Moderator, Brother John Joseph Donnelly, C.S.C; General Chairman, Roger Consola, and the many members of the various committees provided the young couples of the evening with snowflake memories through April and June to December again.

THE SOPHOMORE SOCIAL WHIRL CENTERED

Social life for the Sophomores centered around their own class dance, the Winter Carnival, held on the evening of January 16th. Brother Arthur O'Brien and his volunteer crew of decorators had a lot of fun turning the gym into a playground for frolicking snowmen who skated and skied in gleeful abondon around the blue walls.

Tom Mensching and his SPORTCOATS provided the danceable music and Carmen entertained with a few songs during intermission.

ON THEIR OWN ENJOYABLE WINTER CARNIVAL

The Winter Carnival proved to be popular not only with the Sophomores, but with the rest of the student body as well. It was attended by more than two hundred couples, among whom were many upperclassmen.

As usual, Brother Harold took care of the cafeteria arrangements and saw that refreshments were available to those who desired them—and how many teen-agers don't? Tom Mensching saw that the dancers worked up a real thirst by keeping them hopping to Mexican Hat Dances and Bunny Hops. The more sedate settled for the Cha-Cha's.

FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FIVE INVADE THE HALLS OF HOLY CROSS

FRESHMAN CLASS REPRESENTATIVES
Kevin Reilly, Robert Dormann and James Ryan were the only members of the Freshman Council the photographer was able to catch. So, here is their very exclusive picture.

FRESHMEN

When the doors swung open in September the second largest class to enter Holy Cross invaded the building, as four hundred seventy-five Freshmen swarmed into the corridors.

The usual opening day mayhem reigned wherever they went—for at least the first two weeks of school. This is an easy building to get lost in, with its five floors and maze of corridors—and lost they did get.

They came in assorted sizes and shapes, but most noticeable was the variation in height—the extremes. Brother Josaphat roamed the corridors looking over the six-footers, and Brother Jogues kept a wary eye out for broad shoulders.

All the other Brothers simply kept an eye out for Freshmen in general, and got out of the way when they heard them coming on their bookbag-swinging way.

It took a while to learn which stairs had "up" traffic and which had "down"—but after a few miss-tries, and a few detentions, one managed to get the hang of things and school life slowly settled into the usual routine.

Latin came hard, and algebra harder, but study halls and gym were pure joy. Who ever heard of a play period in the middle of the day—followed by lunchtime to boot? What a crazy school!

FRESHMAN STAG

As if all the school-opening stories weren't bad enough, imagine what consternation must have existed in the good homes of Freshman parents when Junior came home and informed them that Brother Harold was going to teach them all how to use dice!

Freshman, Donald Campofranco, displays his prize model of a plane designed by none other than Leonardo DaVinci. The model was carefully constructed from detailed drawings of the great artist.

And Ma, we could have all we could manage to get down, at the Bunco party.

STAGGERS FROSH

That's not the most diplomatic way to describe Bunco, but it's the quickest. So on the evening of October 16th, close to four hundred Frosh converged on the unsuspecting neighborhood for their first Stag. The evening got off to a wild start with cartoons in the auditorium. Then followed the initiation into the intricacies of Bunco.

It was no time at all that the temperature of the cafeteria rose at least ten degrees—then ten more and at least another ten before the evening thundered to a close. Tension mounted as the games wore on and busy Sophomores hurried among the tables punching winners' tickets and distributing refreshments.

What better way could an exciting evening end than on a feast of soda, potato chips and ice cream.

The Class of '63 got off to a roaring and successful start. Here's hoping all of their class ventures are as enjoyable as their first.

There are times when it seems that nobody goes to Holy Cross but Sophomores.

ALL STUDENTS LOOK FORWARD TO SPECIAL SPRING ACTIVITIES

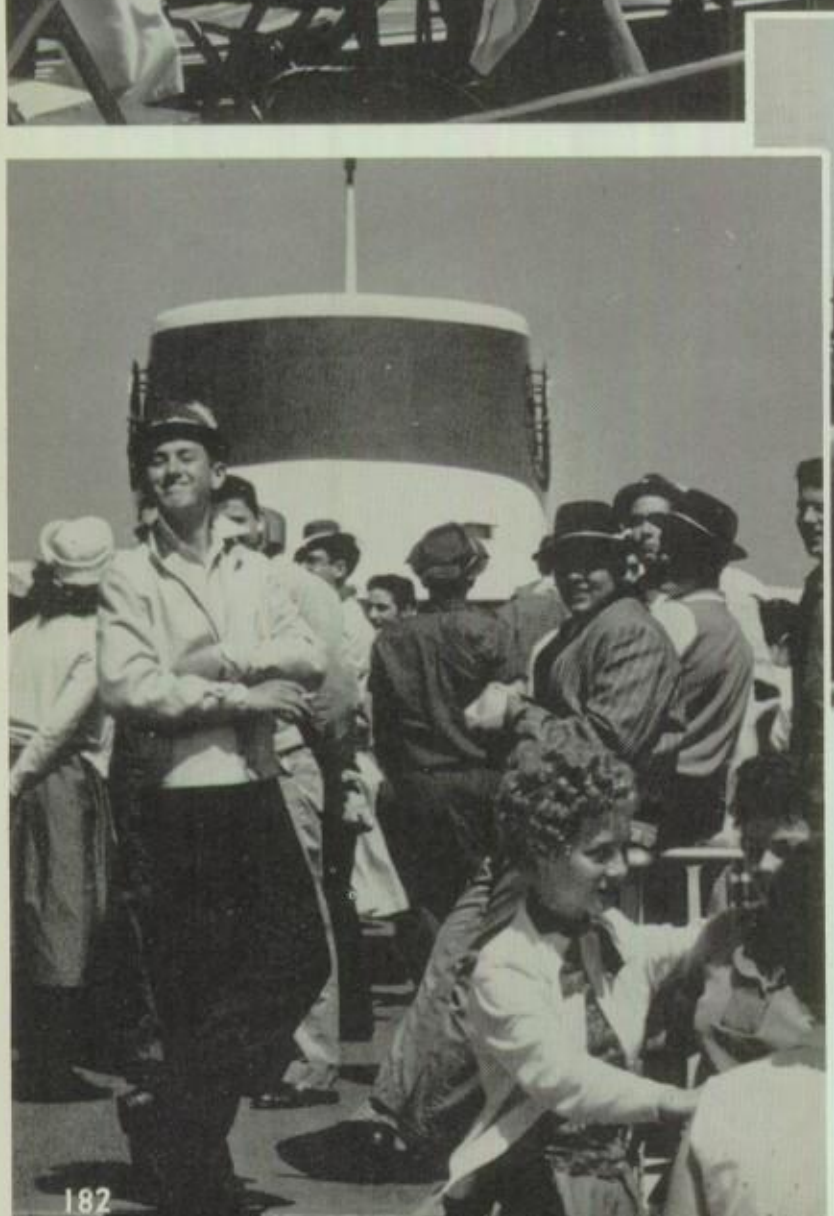
A sure sign of Spring is the good old American custom of the annual school picnic. At Holy Cross, that means preparation for the boat trip through the East River and across the Sound to the amusement park at Rye Beach.

Last year's memorable trip on the Wilson Line's Hudson Belle was enjoyed by close to 1200 boys from Holy Cross and 850 feminine companions from St. Agnes Academy.

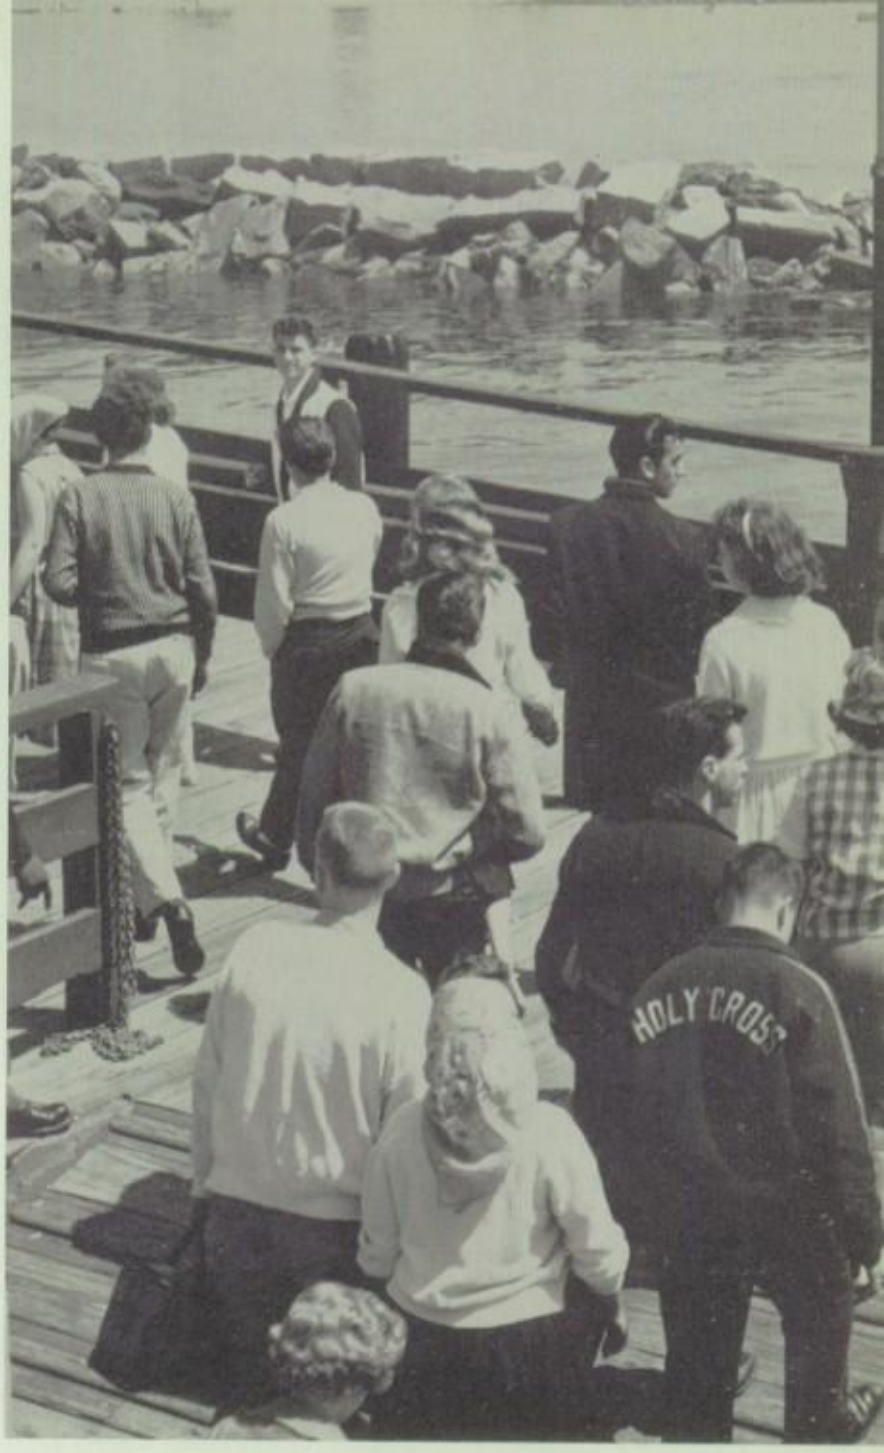
The sun was warm, the river breeze sharp and the mood gay. Bermuda-clad Holy Cross Student Council members saw to it that there was continuous recorded dance music available on shipboard.

After a long day of dizzying rides and picnic meals, the tired group was happy to return safely to Battery Park. Thanks were in order to Brother Francis Regis who took care of all the necessary arrangements for the excursion.

These photographs would be a welcome addition to anyone's album. They are visual proof of the fun enjoyed by all the excursionists.



The Queensborough was only one of six bridges under which we passed on our way to Rye.



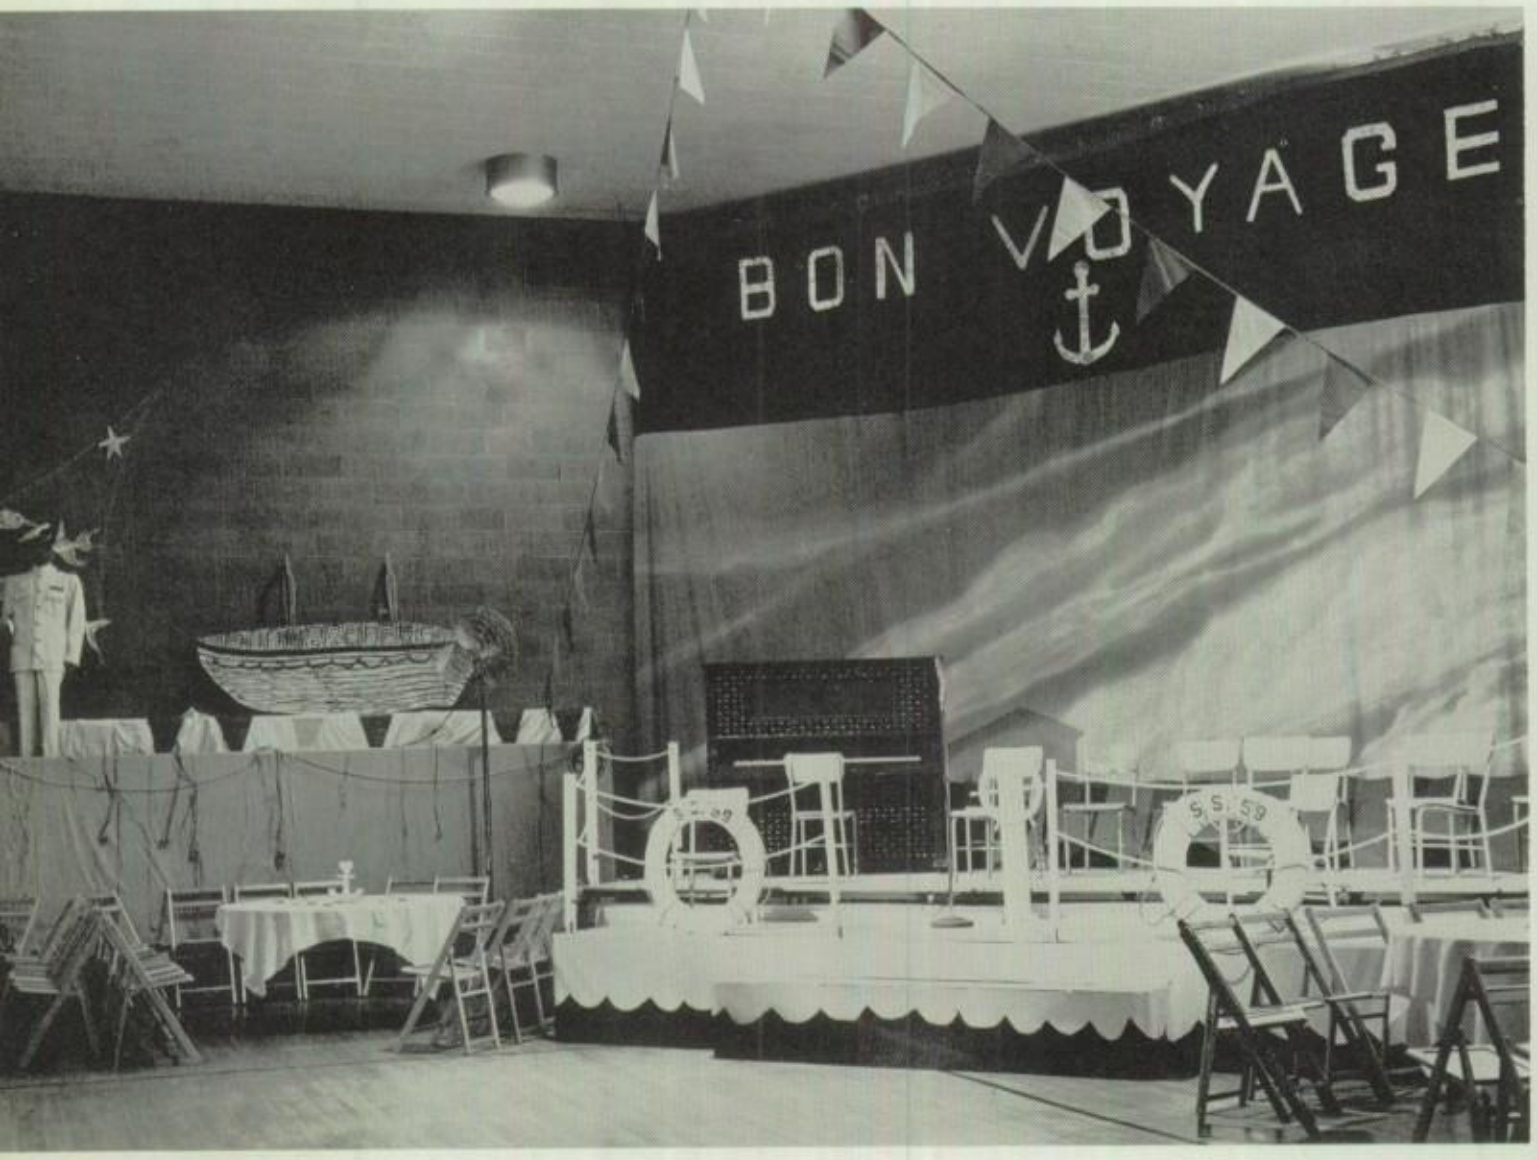
Down the gangplank to the dock at Rye Beach head the excursion group.

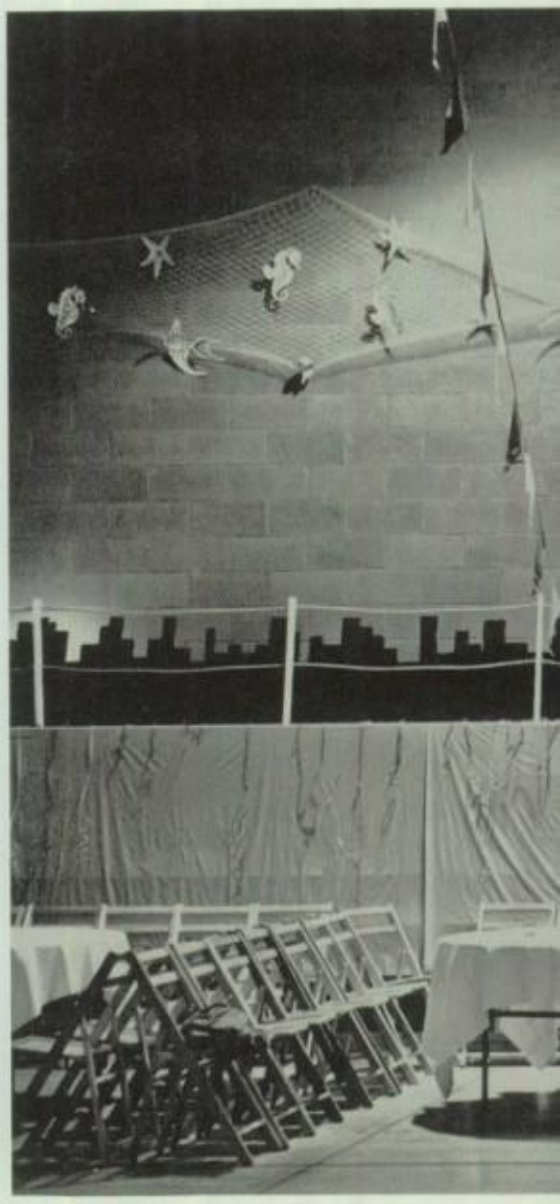
The danger sign is no deterrent to Jack O'Connor and Tom Murray as they start off for a whirl on the Crazy Mouse.

What with no school that day, the cafeteria ladies came along for a well-earned fling too.

Look who's soaking up the rail-side sunshine. This is what would be called a "picturesque" group.

FOUR YEAR SOCIAL WHIRL ENDS FOR THE CLASS OF '59 WITH A



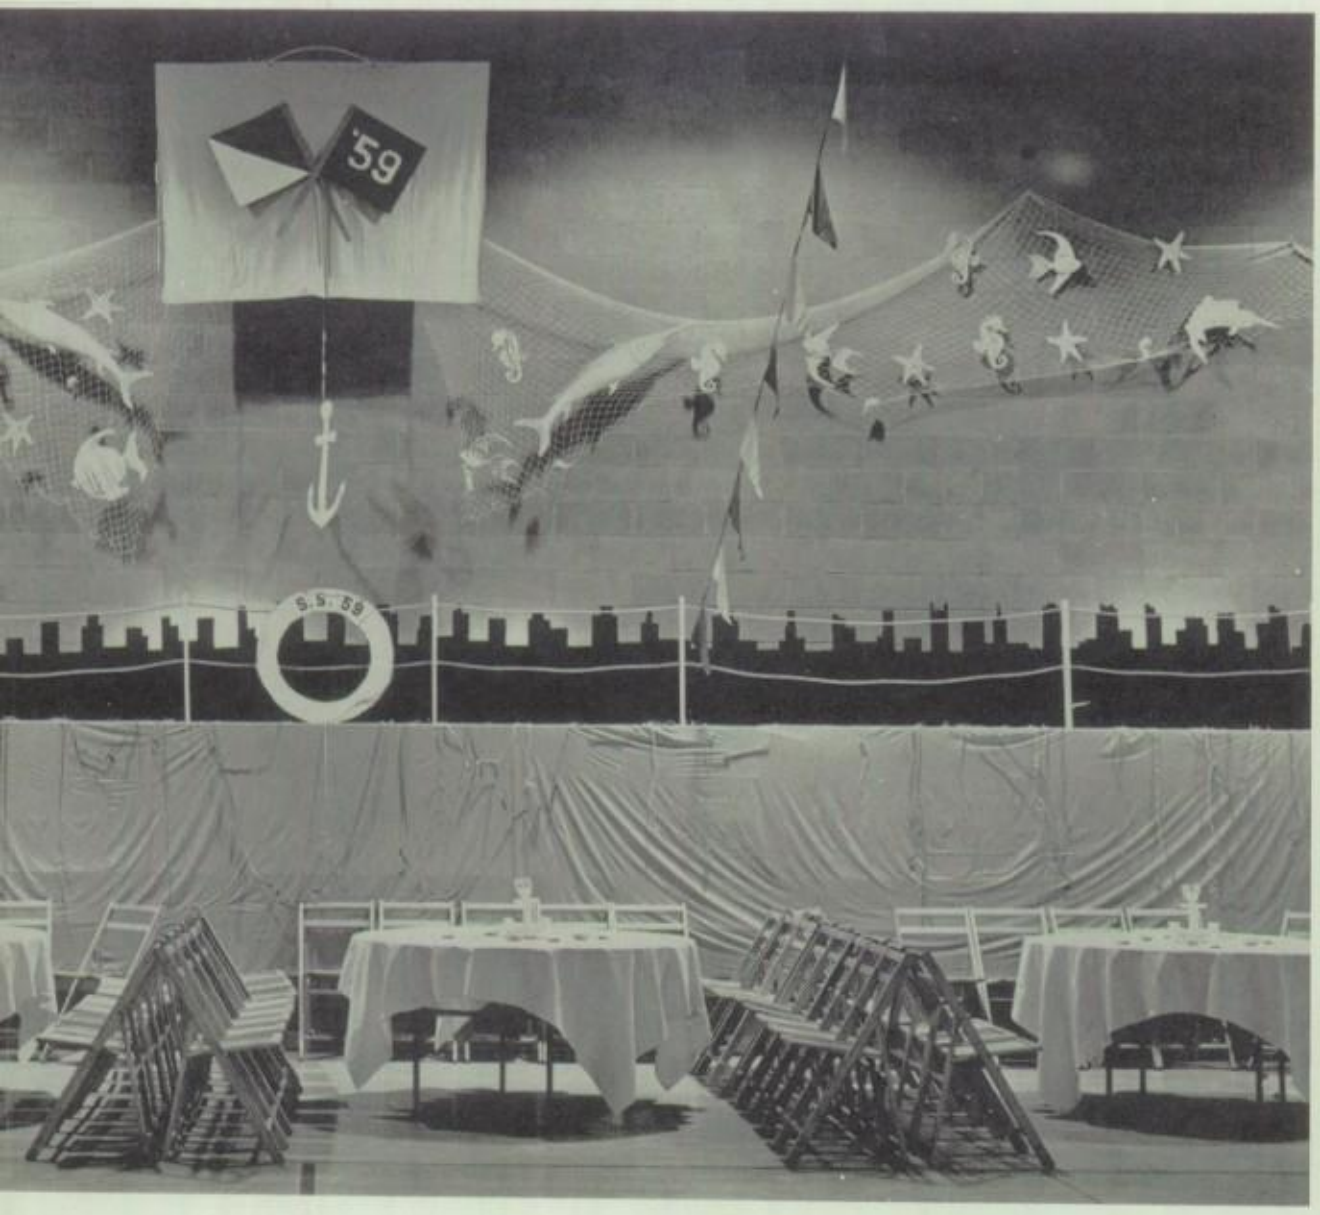


A lonesome white-frocked captain watches over the empty bandstand of the S.S. '59 before the prom-goers arrive. Soft lights lend the proper air of fantasy to the glittering fish snared in numerous white fishnets draped on the deep blue walls of the gymnasium. A clever shadow lighted skyline helped lend an aboard-ship atmosphere to the dance floor.

George Balback and Margared O'Connell pose after a pause for refreshments at the rose encircled punch fountain.

Two smiling couples, Phil Reilly, Joe DiPalo and their dates smile for the photographer near one of the cafeteria garden settings.

"BON VOYAGE" PROM ON THE GOOD SHIP HOLY CROSS '59



On the evening of June 5, the pioneer Class of '59 attended its final social event in the Holy Cross gymnasium. Three hundred and seventy-five couples crowded the dance floor to enjoy the smooth melodies of Al Madison's Orchestra.

Colorful nautical decorations lent an air of reality to the shipboard "Bon Voyage" Prom theme. The elegant cafeteria atmosphere is pictured in the cafeteria section of the book.

BEAUTY . . . ELEGANCE . . . DIGNITY . . .
AND PROPER MANNERS ABOUNDED . . .

John Flood shows Maria Garcia the proper way to handle a glass ladle.

Time out from dancing for these graduates-to-be and their dates.

SO MANY SUCCESSES WE OWE TO SO MANY WHO SERVE US DAILY IN

From the smiles on their faces, it looks as though Brother Regis and Jim Nolan just made a kill.

"Don't tell me the Bookstore hasn't any . . . because the Bookstore usually has whatever supplie the Holy Cross student needs, right down to personalized beer mug. Bookstore manager, Brothe Francis Regis, keeps in close contact with the facult to see that his establishment meets the requirement of the articles students need.

Twice a day the "Lost and Found" departmen opens its doors to negligent and forgetful studen who can claim articles turned into this departmen Brother John Manning supervises this room, whic also houses the school's well equipped Audio-Visua department.

Brother Robert Pluta keeps busy before schoo helping forgetful students remember their locke combinations, or prying open defective locks.

Brother John inspects a book for marks of identification for a prospective customer.

Early in February of this year, Brother Richard Stenger came up from Texas to join the faculty. Many of his duties keep him busy in the school office.

CAFETERIA WORKERS

THEIR ROUND OF DUTIES AND WORK AT THE CROSS

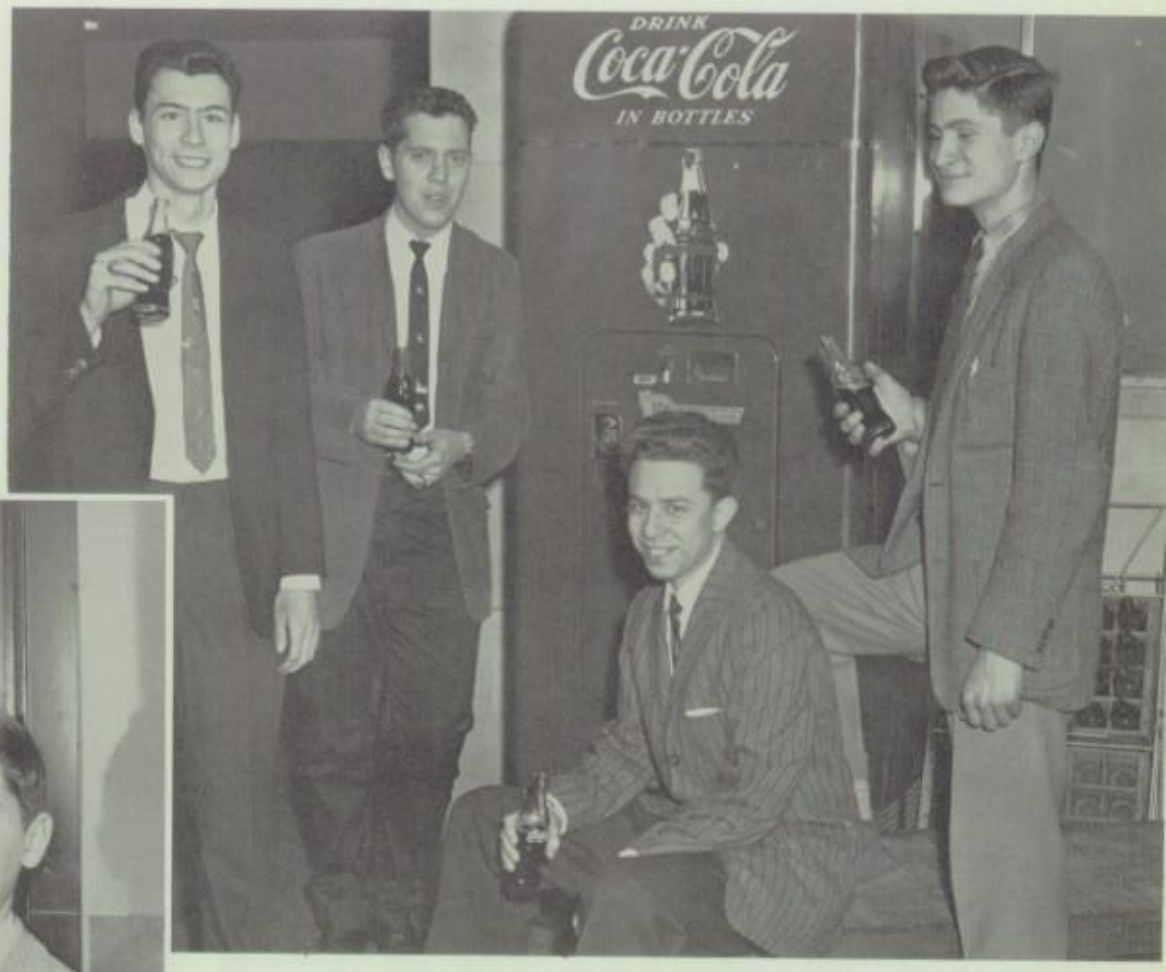
How much effort is needed to keep a five floor building the size of Holy Cross spanking clean? Plenty! This monumental task is the work of three custodians and a group of student janitorial assistants, who clean the classrooms and corridors daily and help with the "mopping up operation" every Saturday. "Polly" also takes care of most of the maintenance work.

Mr. Joseph Hayden

Mr. Clarence Pollard

Mr. Clay Callahan

L. Mesticky keeps a sparkle on the library's listening room windows.



Time out for a Coke break for janitorial assistants R. Raab, J. O'Neill, C. Russo and L. Mesticky.

More workmen take time out to pose for the photographer: R. Duerholz, T. McGrath, R. McFeely.

. . . and also R. Close, E. Jaworski, J. Keane and T. Raab.

STUDENT CONCESSIONS GROUP

Ever ready at basketball games to quench your thirst are: R. Baumann, R. Raab, N. Garofalo, H. Bolger, J. Walsh, P. Fenton, T. Heck and S. Ardizzone.

THANKS FOR ALL THIS TO OUR GENEROUS MOTHERS AND FATHERS

Seated: Barbara Biondi, Treasurer; Agnes Joe, Financial Secretary; Marie Schuessler, Scholarships; Virginia McGovern, President; Pat Poppe, Liason; Helen Dolan, Recording Secretary; Eleanor Weille, Corresponding Secretary. Standing: Brother Donald, Elsie DePhillips, Margaret McCann, Helen Siddons, Jo Agius, Edith Flood, Dot Edgar, Vilma Feeley, Regina Kelly, Kay Gibleski, Terry Storms and Brother Ralph.

HOLY CROSS WOMEN'S GUILD BOARD MEMBERS

Father Gleason distributed Holy Communion at the Mass preceding the Guild's Annual Communion Breakfast.

The gymnasium all set up for the Guild Christmas Dance.

Guild members pose with the wife of Mayor Wagner at last Spring's Silver Tea at Gracie Mansion.

The Reverend Raymond Leonard, Dean of Philosophy, St. Joseph College, Brooklyn, main speaker and Mrs. Bernadette O'Leary, chairman of the Communion Breakfast.

Cast members of the Guild's Christmas program pose for a group photograph.

TV star Christopher Lynch entertained at the Guild St. Pat's Party.

Home-made Christmas wreaths, and decorations made a big hit at the December Give-Away Sale for the Scholarship Committee.

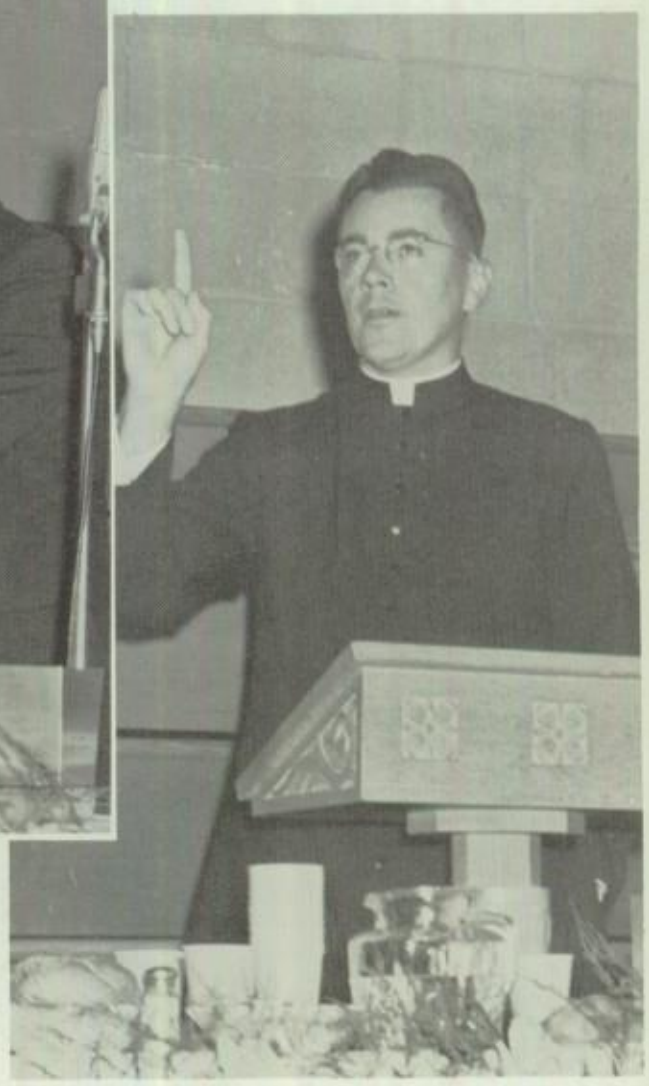
THE HOLY CROSS FATHERS' CLUB

Mr. Phil Limpert acted as toastmaster at the Annual Father-Son Communion Breakfast held in the gymnasium last Fall.

Brother John Donoghue gratefully receives a check from Fathers' Club President, Dan Keneally.



Rev. Thomas Clancy, Vocation Director for the Brooklyn Diocese, was the main speaker at the Father-Son Communion Breakfast.

Club Moderator, Brother Jogues, gives with a big grin as he leafs through the bills collected for Golden Gloves.

Eager customers crowd the newly-built refreshment stand constructed by the fathers for use at football games.

Rev. John Walsh, M.M., was the celebrant at the Father-Son Mass.

Fathers become salesmen for a night between the rounds of the Golden Gloves bouts.

AND THANKS TO ALL OF YOU WHOSE EFFORTS HAVE MADE THIS BOOK POSSIBLE

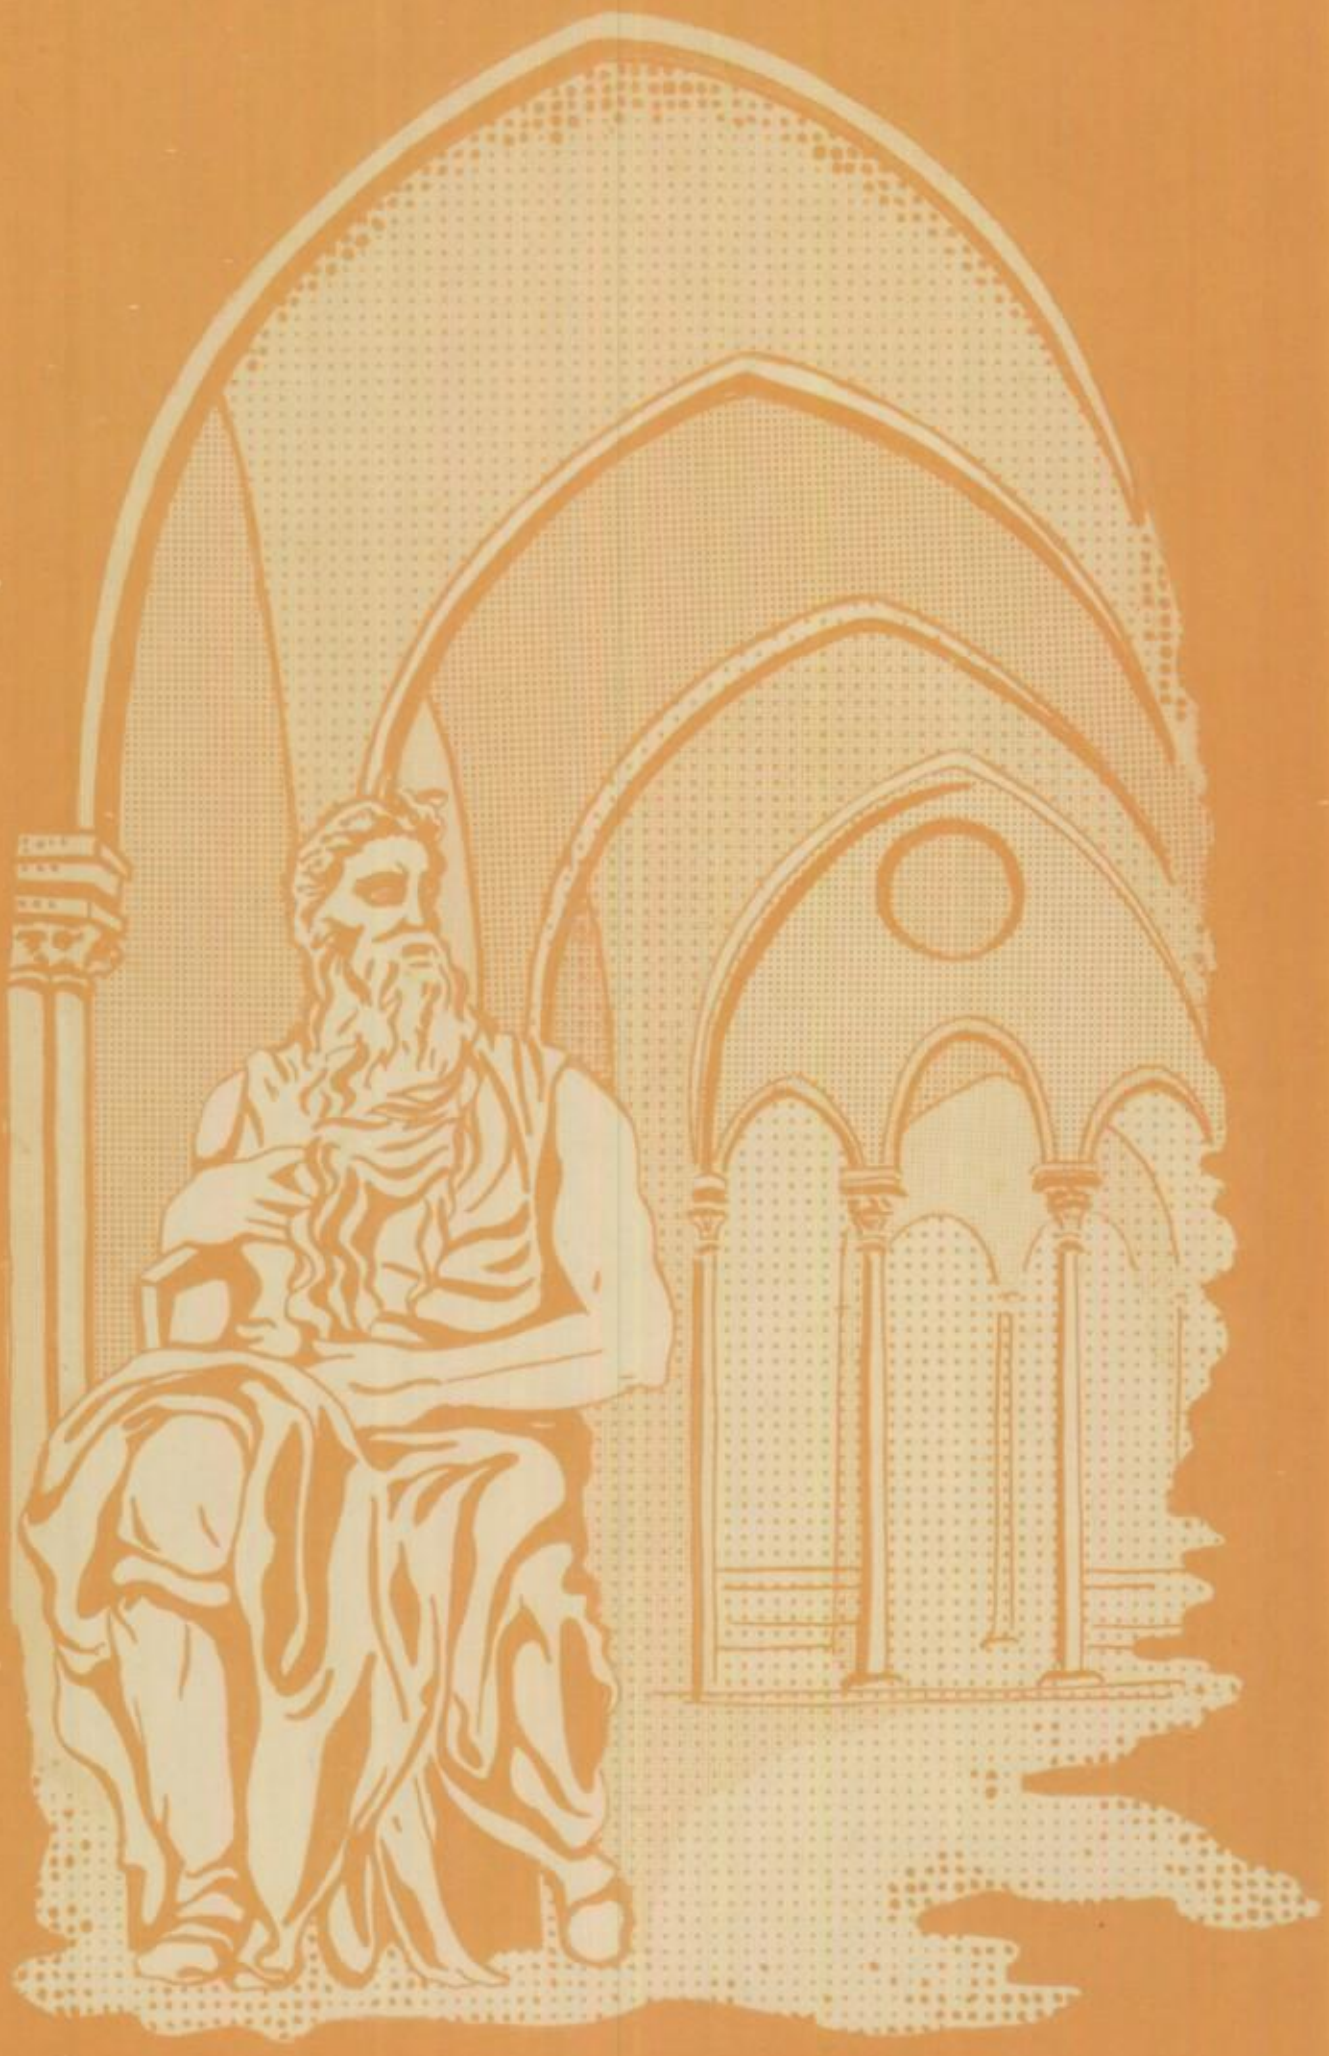
FINIS

EACH MAN IS FORMED BY ALL THAT HAS PRECEDED HIM . . .



THROUGH ALL THE AGELESS ARC OF YEARS

THE THOUGHTS AND DREAMS OF OTHER MEN

LAP CEASELESSLY THE SHORES OF TIME.

EVERY MAN IS PART

OF WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE HIM.

NO BELL OF WARNING RINGS

NO CRY OF JOY

NOR SOB OF GRIEF ESCAPES

FROM OUT THE PAST UNHEARD.

EACH MOMENT HEAPS THE SANDS OF TIME

RICHLY ENDOWED BY POETS, SAINTS AND SCHOLARS

ABOUT OUR SINKING FEET,

STREWING UPON THE SHORES

OF CONSCIOUSNESS

THE RELICS OF MAN'S PAST
